County Hits Road Jackpot, Gains Freeways, Routes

Three major Contra Costa County highway projects, totaling $16,329,000, were provided for in the record-breaking $633,460,812 State Highway budget for 1961-62 adopted Wednesday in Sacramento.

Construction will begin in about six months on a $7.5 million eight-lane freeway, two miles long from the Caldecott (Broadway) Tunnel to Orinda. Part of a great cross-county route, it will complement two other major projects.

THE BUDGET provides $4.41 million for a four-lane freeway from Monument in Pleasant Hill to the new Martinez-Benicia Bridge approach at Arnold Industrial Highway near Pacheco, a distance of 4.2 miles.

The third project is a $2.3 million four-lane freeway leg, two miles long, to Concord Avenue in Concord. Right of way allocations total $2,045,000, including $920,000 for route purchases between Walnut Creek and Danville.

The first two projects in conjunction with freeways already built or under construction, and the bridge approach, will provide a full freeway route across the county from the tunnel through Orinda, Lafayette, Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill and Pacheco to the bridge at Martinez.

THE CONTRA Costa projects follow the recommendations of the Diablo Highway Federation.

Major projects in Alameda County, provided for in the $50 million allocated to Alameda and Contra Costa Counties, will benefit Contra Costa's swarms of commuters.

An allocation of $33,998,000 will extend the MacArthur Freeway to the Oakland-San Leandro city line and start a new freeway between Mission San Jose and Sunol.

THE EIGHT-LANE MacArthur Freeway gets a total of $16,700,000 for construction of two new sections. Start of a new freeway that will eventually connect Fremont with Contra Costa County is provided by a $6.2 million allocation for four and seven tenths miles of a four-lane route through Mission Pass from a point near Mission San Jose to Scott's Corners, near Sunol.

Paving the way for future projects, the budget provides $9.85 million for right of way purchases, including $5.38 million for the MacArthur Freeway, $2.8 million for the Grove-Shafter Freeway and the remainder for various other jobs.

INCLUDED in the budget was $35,000 as the state's share for the Willow Pass Road improvement near Concord, with Contra Costa County to provide a matching amount.

The record-breaking outlay for Alameda and Contra Costa Counties is nine million more than last year's previous high point.

Orinda Fire District Gets $9000

Rotary Club Gives Sun Publisher Unique Award

Sun Publisher Herman Silverman and The Sun were the recipients of an unprecedented testimonial Wednesday afternoon.

The Orinda Rotary Club, at its luncheon meeting in Mike Lynn's Restaurant, gave Silverman a large engraved plaque "in recognition of responsible and outstanding news coverage."

Members of the club managed to carry the secrecy of the presentation to the hilt by first inviting the publisher to address the group on his recent Far Eastern tour.

The presentation was made following Silverman's talk by Earl Cappel, president of the club.

Cappel told Silverman, "Since your publishing has always been in the light of service to the public and since the Rotary Club is dedicated to service we are proud to make this presentation to you."

The club president added that such a presentation has never before been made by the Orinda group.

The surprised Silverman said he is "very grateful" and added he is proud to have the opportunity to serve the central county area.

Parallel Parking Test Gets Chamber Approval

Directors of the Orinda Chamber of Commerce agreed Tuesday to undertake a 90-day experiment which would eliminate diagonal parking on Brookwood Road between Moraga Way and Camino Pablo.

The experiment was suggested by Mark Kermit, county traffic engineer, as a means of solving a problem involving eastbound commuter buses which must leave the freeway to pick up and discharge passengers.

KERMIT said the experiment, which would cut the total number of parking spaces from 20 to 18, could be in operation by the middle of November.

He told the chamber directors that the State Public Utilities Commission recently concluded a report which pointed out that it remain on freeways and to dis- is best for commuter bueses to charge passengers at turnouts.

This report, Kermit said, recommended an eastbound turnout for Orinda. He explained the turnout, which would cost the state about $60,000, would speed up the commute run for all of the passengers east of Orinda.

THE COUNTY engineer reported the turnout would have to be located near the Pacific Gas and Electric Company tower and would require a foot bridge to bring passengers from the freeway area into Orinda.

There is an existing westbound turnout along the freeway for Orinda commuters.

But Kermit explained that J. P. Sinclair, District IV engineer for the State Division of Highways reported that if diagnonal parking along Brookwood Road was removed, the buses could get hampered and the turnout would be unnecessary.

HE ADDED that Sinclair said the state would not build the turnout unless the community first tested whether the removal of the diagonal parking would relieve the situation.

Kermit said the Christmas shoppinf period would be a good time to allow the state to take the parking test. He added that he elt the test would show that the situation was not improved by the removal of diagnola parking.

The plan calls for the sh spaces on the south side of Brookwood Road to be transformed into parallel stalls. The crosswalk would also beremoved to provide an additional two spaces.

Fairies May Vanish But Witches Go On Forever

By CONNIE PIKE

Comes the day when the little people no longer believe. Santa is usually the first to go, followed rapidly by the Easter Bunny, the tooth fairy and all the other fairies, elves, brownies, leprechauns, etc.

But deep faith is hard to shake and before it finally departs we have to answer a question. "Really, truly, Mother. Are you and Daddy Santa?" the six or seven-year-old asks. What to reply?

If it's two days before Christmas and he wants to believe, you let him. "What do you think?" you ask. He will probably say, "I don't think you are. You wouldn't buy all those toys."

Logic.

BUT BY THE time Easter rolls around and there has been more discussion among his set, more opportunities to observe Mother picking up bright yellow chicks and little bunnies, and now that there's something to search for, and plenty of searches made which might or might not have turned something up, this is the end.

You may as well let him help color the eggs. Coloring the egg helps to take the sting out.

The tooth fairy is bound to come in for questioning, too. Having learned that a tooth under the pillow is a new toy from the dime store, we were afraid the little boy would present a new problem for the orthodonist before he was eight years old, so busy he was wiggling his slightly-loosened teeth.

ONE NIGHT he showed me a gleaming, if stubby treasure beneath the pillow.

"Wonder how much she'll give me?" he asked.

"Oh, maybe a quarter," I said.

"Gee," he dreamed. "Maybe she'll give me $10."

I choked.

"I don't think so. I think a quarter," I said with conviction.

"How do you know?"

"I don't know. I just think."

"ARE YOU THE tooth fairy?" he asked.

"Do I look like a fairy?"

"No'," he admitted. Then after a little thought, "Are there any tooth witches?"

I stifled a laugh.

"I don't think so. Now go to sleep." I made a hasty exit.

Somehow, although the fairies and elves disappear forever, they fail to take with them the witches, ghosts and goblins that people the darkest night.

BELIEVING IN fairies may now be considered babyish, but there ARE DEFINITELY ghosts and witches. They lurk in darkened halls and bedrooms and prevent one from going to the rear of the house, even in direst need.

But the accomplishment of one other person dispels their presence.

Any person will do.

Even the dog.

S.F. Riot Film Causes Controversy in Orinda

The showing of a 40-minute film, "Operation Abolition," Monday night has stirred up a major controversy among parents' club members, school officials, religious groups and the general public in Orinda.

The film, depicting the riots which took place at the House Un-American Activities Committee hearings in San Francisco last May, was shown at the Orinda School Parents' Club meeting in the school, over the protest of some of the club's members.

More than 400 persons — including seven uniformed and armed sheriff's deputies — overflowed the school's auditorium for the meeting.

Red Threat Pointed Out By Speaker

The threat of the spread of international communism to local communities in the United States was spelled out for Orinda Parents' Club members and other Orindans at a public meeting Monday night.

Featured speaker of the evening was Dr. Joost Sluis, director of the Northern California branch of the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade and an orthopedic surgeon at the University of California Medical Center.

DR. SLUIS first delivered a speech which lasted more than half an hour—one marked by interruptions of applause — and then showed a 40-minute film of the riots at the House Un-American Activities Committee hearings in San Francisco.

The speaker explained to the large crowd that the riots were indications of a subversive communist movement within our own country, and he said the United States is doomed if action is not taken now.

Showing of the film and presentation of the over-all program caused some controversy among parents' club members before the meeting night, but O. T. Buffalow, newly elected club president, reported a poll of executive committee members favored the program, 9-5.

THE BY-LAWS of the club state that the nature of the meetings shall be decided by the executive board, which consists of elective and appointive officers. The faculty representative and advisory member do not have a vote, and the president votes only in case of a tie.

The program was announced to the parents October 11 by the regular club news letter, which was sent home with students at the school. The bulletin is edited by Grace McKnight.

In announcing the program, the bulletin said: "1973! Does that date have any significance for you? The Communists have designated 1973 for the complete surrender of the U.S. to their psychological warfare. Fantastic? Come and see 'Operation Abolition' first hand. The 40-minute on-the-spot scenes of the San Francisco riots show how hard-cord Communists incite brain-washed students to riot against governmental agencies.

"This patriotic program is scheduled for the Orinda School Parents' Club first general meeting on Monday, October 24, at 8 p.m. at Orinda School, 26 Orinda Way."

Parent Charges Sluis Is Lying, Befuddled Man

A member of the dissident group of the Orinda Parents' Club called Dr. Joost Sluis, the club's guest speaker Monday night, a liar and "a befuddled young man" this week.

Dr. Leonard Roth said in a letter that "This man and his ilk have little or no understanding of our country and its strengths. We are a rich, strong, free people and this freedom has endured and will endure if we protect it.

"THERE IS NO serious native communist threat. We are a free people and will continue to remain free as long as we believe in ourselves and are not deluded by frightened, hate-ridden people into giving up any part of our freedoms. The end does not justify the means."

Dr. Roth was also one of 29 Orinda families who signed a cover letter last week which accompanied some brochures and editorials opposed to the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The editorials were taken from the New York Times and the New York Herald Tribune and the other item was "An Analysis of the HCUA Propaganda Film, Operation Abolition." The analysis is published by the Orange County Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union and the Bay Area Student Committee for the Abolition of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

THE COVER letter said, "We are calling this literature to your attention, not because we necessarily endorse this point of view but because we endorse the principle that all points of view should be heard. Informed judgments can be made only upon consideration of all available material and points of view.

"Those of us who are Parents Club board members point out that we were not given the opportunity to vote on the possibility of having both pro and con speakers on the program. The alternatives on which the announced 9-5 vote of the executive board of the parents club was based did not include the option of having another point of view presented.

"This letter and action have developed as a result of a number of spontaneous personal telephone calls made within the time elapsed since the two public an-

Post Office Plan For Brookwood Withdrawn Again

Proponents of a post office location on Brookwood Road near Mike Lynn's Restaurant have withdrawn their bid for a second time because of aparent objections of residents in the area.

Ramsay Underwood, owner of the property, and Charles (Bud) Coburn, an Orinda contractor who has built several post offices, announced their final decision to withdraw their bid this week, just two days after they appeared before the Orinda Association board of directors for reconsideration.

THES POST Office Department has called for bids on a new, enlarged post office for the community. Bids were due Tuesday, but the date has been extended to November 4.

Coburn told the association Monday night that four bidders are still interested in the post office. He said one is the Orinda Theatre site, one is the Associated Investment Company (Pine Grove) and the other two are located in the village area.

Underwood and Coburn explained that the man who originally put the matter before the Orinda Association and the Oak Springs Homeowners Association was not really the owner of the property.

THE SITE is an acre piece of land located between Brookwood Road and the freeway off ramp. It presently is zoned multiple residential, with a small strip for retail business.

In order to construct a post office there, Underwood said, the land would have to be rezoned to a commercial zoning.

Underwood explained that the Post Office Department favors the site because of the ease of accessibility. But he added that the decision to drop the plans was made because of the lack of time.

DAVE Ivantosch, president of the Oak Springs group, said there was considerable opposition to the proposal among residents in the area, but that the group would be willing to reconsider if a traffic study proved the post office would not cause congestion.

The post office, wherever it is constructed, will remain in private ownership and will be leased to the Post Office Department.

Director John Cheney of the Orinda Association reported residents of the El Toyonal area and the county agreed last week to continue plans for widening El Toyonal.

Settlement Reached On Flood Damages Dispute

The Orinda Fire District this week received settlement of $9,000 as a result of its suit against the county for $13,208 in damages incurred during March and April of 1957.

The damages were caused when San Pablo Creek, blocked by a county road project, overflowed three times and flooded the main firehouse.

Settlement was reached just three days before the case was due to be tried before a jury in Superior Court, Martinez last week.

The county paid $1,000 of the settlement and the contractor, also named in the suit, paid $8,000. Contractors are Frederickson and Watson.

In a precedent making decision, exactly one year ago in October, the District Court of Appeals in San Francisco reversed a ruling of the Contra Costa Superior Court and decided in favor of the Orinda Fire District.

THE RULING of the higher court enabled the fire district to continue its suit against the county. The new ruling stated in effect, "Fire Districts do not belong to the county — they belong to the people within the individual districts and they are 'municipal corporations.'"

In its decision, the appellate court ruled the district had the right to sue Contra Costa County, even though it did not file the action within 90 days of the flooding, as required by law.

The superior court had dismissed the action against the county on that basis. Robert Eshelman, attorney for the fire district contended that the suit was not filed in time because the district relied on the advice of the district attorney and the board of supervisors, who held that the district could not sue the county and the action should be against the contractor.

ESHELMAN maintained, however, that both the county and the contractor should be sued, and when the county took no action against the firm, the district sued both parties.

Zach Montgomery of the board of commissioners of the fire district stated the appeal was filed because the district wanted to prove its right to sue the county and wanted also to show it had the right to be free of the statute of limitations.

At issue was $12,500 damage to the main fire station on Avenida Road in the Village and $708 damage to personal property of firemen on duty.

Settlement of the suit means dollars in the pockets of Orinda tax payers. The sum of $9,000 will be taken off the tax rolls in the next year.

Entries Sought For Scout Event

Additional entries still are being sought for the contest to name the new Boy Scout district in the Lafayette, Moraga and Orinda areas.

Grand prize for the contest is a pup tent, to be awarded to the individual Cub, Boy or Explorer Scout who submits the name which is selected by the judges.

CONTEST chairman Joe Conley of Orinda said the deadline for the event has been extended until Tuesday so that all interested boys in the Scouting program throughout the three communities have an opportunity to enter.

The new district was formed by the division in August of the old Meridian District. The newly-formed district in the Walnut Creek area will retain the Meridian name, Conley reported.

The event is being sponsored by the Mt. Diablo Council of Boy Scouts of America and The Sun.

In addition to Conley, judges for the contest are Stan Hunn of Orinda, Phil Johnson and Harold Lotter of Lafayette, Ed Snekvik of Walnut Creek and Herman Silverman, editor-publisher of The Sun.

Entries may be mailed to Scout Contest Editor, The Sun, 1001 Oak Hill Road, Lafayette.

Bear Creek Rd. Question Sent Back to Board

The question of the relocation of Bear Creek Road is back in the hands of the County Board of Supervisors this week, and there was no indication whether the board would act on the matter before November 22.

That is the date of the postponed public hearing on the road relocation, which is being made necessary by the inundation of the existing roadway due to construction of the Briones Valley Reservoir.

THE PUBLIC HEARING originally was scheduled for last Tuesday, but supervisors ordered the postponement when the County Public Works Department reported it has not completed its study.

A citizens' study committee, appointed by Chairman Mel Nielsen of the board of supervisors, voted last week to ask the board to authorize a study of a new road in the Charles Hill area from the freeway to the east end of the reservoir.

In doing so, the committee voted against a proposal submitted by one of its members, Robert Kahn, president of the Happy Valley Improvement Association.

KAHN HAD ASKED the committee to request a meeting of officials of Contra Costa and Alameda counties and the East Bay Municipal Utility District to try to form a three-way parks and recreation agreement.

If this comes about, Kahn suggested, the road relocation problem should be held in abeyance until the agreement is adopted.

Members of the citizens committee agreed that their main discussion should center on the road and not on the parks. The Charles Hill route was one of Kahn's additional suggestions.

ATTEMPTS are still being made to schedule a meeting between the two counties and the utility district, but the road problem will be handled independently.

Vern Cline of the County Public Works Department informed the committee that there are no funds available for the new study, and that the county probably could not proceed with it for five months.

The committee did not dissolve last week, but agreed to wait for further direction from the board of supervisors.

Its members suggested that the new road begin at the frontage road near the Charles Hill Interchange and proceed through the hills between Charles Hill and Upper Happy Valley roads to the east end of the reservoir.

Women Named To Committee of Israel Orchestra

Three local women have been named representatives from this area on the Israel Philharmonic Committee.

The Mesdames L. A. Ziegler of Lafayette and John Cronin and Sid Kroff of Orinda are assisting in the promotion of the first concert of the orchestra to be held in Northern California since 1951, as sponsored by the Jewish Education Council.

The concert has been scheduled for the Berkeley Community Theater, Grove Street and Allston Way, Berkeley, Saturday night, November 19, and will feature Israeli-born pianist Pnina Salzman. She will play Paul Ben Heim's Cappriccio for Piano and Orchestra, composed especially for the current American tour.

Carlo Maria Giulini is musical director of the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra. Tickets can be secured by contacting committee members, or through offices of the Jewish Education Council at 3245 Sheffield Avenue, Oakland, telephone KEllogg 3-7462.

Spooks Will March for UNICEF Monday Night

Monday evening children of Central Contra Costa County will participate in the 10th anniversary trick or treat program for UNICEF under the auspices of many church, school and club groups.

Several thousand children are expected to add to their evening of fun by collecting pennies and nickels to aid needy children throughout the world.

Collection centers have been set up at the Red Cross centers in Walnut Creek, at 1395 Civic Drive, and in Concord, and will be open from 7 to 10 p.m.

Individuals or groups may turn in collections at these centers.

Area chairmen for the program included Mesdames F. W. McCracken, Alamo-Danville; Mrs. R. Brown, Walnut Creek-Pleasant Hill; Mrs. Albert Kessler, Lafayette-Orinda and Mrs. Maurice Marcus, Concord.

There will be free refreshments for the children, too, at the Red Cross center, and Mrs. Marcus stressed that it is for all children who feel that they want to come down or be a part of the program.

She pointed out that children collecting funds for UNICEF will be wearing UNICEF tags and presenting official containers and literature.

"Each Contra Costa Youngster wearing a tag next Monday night knows that each coin collected means health and hope for children who would lead a short, sick and hungry life if they received no help," she said.

nouncements about the meeting were sent home with the children. We apologize to those who might have wanted to sign this letter had they been aware of its existence."

DR. ROTH charged that the United States has not lost to communism any country which was not totalitarian before.

He added, "What is it that the Dr. Sluises are trying to do? Have they no faith in our democratic institutions? And why this thread of defeatism and fear? I'd like to know more about this mysterious Christian Anti-Communist Crusade. They strike me as a stupid dangerous group.

"We can afford dissenters: we cannot afford to suppress dissent. Let the communists and fascists speak to us, let us listen and let us continue in our traditional democratic way."

THERE WERE no incidents of any kind at the meeting, but sheriff's deputies who attended said they have been present on every occasion of the showing of the film.

Joseph L. Sheaff, superintendent of Orinda schools, who was present at the meeting, said the news letter was not shown to him before it was distributed to the students.

According to the district attorney's office, the Education Code section prohibiting the distribution of "propaganda" material by the students specifically frees parents' club meetings from its control.

Opponents of the program (see other story) charged the material was not the proper subject matter for a parents' club meeting and said if the film was to be presented the other side of the issue should have been heard in a panel discussion.

Buffalow said a panel discussion was not one of the alternatives offered at the time of the executive committee vote.

Weinmeister Addresses Jaycees

Unification Group Asks County Funds Formally

The Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors Tuesday will have to decide whether or not to give $9000 to the study of the unification of the Acalanes High School District.

As a result of a series of studies and conferences last January, the Augmented Committee on School District Unification decided to appropriate $9000 to hire an outside firm of consultants to determine the best method of unifying all or parts of the elementary school districts lying within the boundaries of the Acalanes High School District.

Since that time it has been ruled by the district attorney's office that school districts cannot spend their funds on such an outside study. The committee therefore determined to ask the board of supervisors for the necessary funds.

In a meeting Wednesday night at Stanley School, Lafayette, the subcommittee, appointed by the augmented committee, resolved to ask the board of supervisors for the necessary funds.

The Board of Supervisors has already been considering the matter "unofficially" and agreed to withhold action until the county schools committee made a formal request for the funds.

The committee also passed another resolution, by a vote of 7-2, to express an intent to make every reasonable effort to agree on the recommendations to be submitted by the professional consultants if funds are forthcoming.

Present at the meeting were representatives of each elementary school district in the Acalanes area, plus members of the county study group and Dr. Frank Bradford from the County School Department.

William Freeman, chairman of the subcommittee and a former member of the Acalanes High School District Board, presented a resolution which will be forwarded to the county board of supervisors, presumably for action Tuesday, which stated in essence:

That the committee has been studying several possible plans for school district unification in the Acalanes area for three years and that the committee has been unable to agree on any plan of unification. That this committee determined that it needed competent professional guidance and recommendation in order provide a basis for agreement on the soundest plan for unification of this area.

And that the committee unanimously resolved to employ a consulting agency, such as Odell Associates (Stanford University Group), to make an objective study for the area, and that the district attorney had ruled that such a study cannot be legally financed by appropriation of the individual school districts, but that it could be financed by the board of supervisors.

The committee then resolved to approve the proposal that Odell and associates be retained at a fixed cost of $9000 to make the unification study and that the board finance the study.

Attached to the resolution was the recommendation that the present subcommittee act as a liaison committee between the various school boards, interested groups and the professional consultants.

The resolution was passed unanimously by the augmented county committee.

However, a further resolution of intent ran into trouble, but was eventually passed 7-2. This resolution, intended to convey to the board of supervisors that the funds would be spent with good intent, stated:

"Resolved: That the augmented committee express its intention to make every reasonable effort to agree on the recommendations to be submitted by the professional consultants employed to study unification in the Acalanes area."

Phil Bush, member of the Orinda School Board, agreed that his district would give serious consideration to the findings of the consultants, but could see no reason for binding his board, by resolution, to agree on the recommendations of the group.

Chris Adams, of the Lafayette School Board, commented that "We do mean to do our best to agree and should so state by resolution."

Alex Lindsay of the Walnut Creek School Board questioned the need for a resolution of such intent, after the first resolution for request for funds had been passed, but agreed to the meaning of the second resolution.

The vote was passed, 7-2, with Canyon and Orinda voting against it.

When asked about the effect on the entire county of the board appropriating funds for the study of an individual school district, Dr. Bradford pointed out that there are only six districts which need study before the county can complete its unification plan for the state—a requirement by 1963. These districts are Acalanes, Richmond, John Swett, Liberty Union, San Ramon Valley and Martinez.

He pointed out that studies are going on in each of these areas, and that even if the county were required to spend similar sums in each for impartial professional outside studies, it would still be considerably less than many counties have spent on such a total county plan.

He added, however, that in this case the districts themselves had expressed a willingness to pay for the study out of local funds, but legally couldn't do so. And that such a study would be made with county funds only when the individual districts within a given area had arrived at such an impasse that an objective study would be necessary.

He added that in the case of many of the other districts in the county, where the problems are not so complex, the cost of an outside study would be well below the $9000 needed for the Acalanes study.

Sleepy Hollow Carnival Will Be All Day Tomorrow

The Sleepy Hollow School grounds will be alive with witches and ghosts tomorrow, at 11 a.m. when the annual carnival gets underway. Festivities will continue until 4 p.m., according to the Parent's Club carnival chairman, Mrs. Irving Grundel.

A Pick - a - Pocket - Witch and a Pumpkin Pitch will be among the new attractions this year. Old favorites such as the hay ride, bowling, the make up booth and movies will all be there too. Don't miss Barbara's bell booth, an outstanding attraction.

MRS. ALBERT Rawson, assistant carnival chairman, reports a new and unusual selection of prizes and souvenirs, many with a Halloween motif. Cotton candy and snow-cones will be among the new food items available.

Each class will sponsor a booth.

Food and Toys to Needy Families--Big Project

A project to provide food and toys to needy families on Christmas day has been announced by Mrs. John Selley, chairman of the Christmas Bureau.

"Santa Claus Anonymous" involves many service organizations in central Contra Costa County, and will be coordinated through the Christmas Bureau, a county-wide organization within the Volunteer Bureau.

"The purpose is to bring some measure of Christmas cheer to families which cannot afford to provide their own, in such a way as to preserve their dignity and self-respect," said Mrs. Selley.

SHE ADDED the project is set up so that citizens who give to needy families do so anonymously, to protect the recipients from embarrassment.

The project is called Santa Claus Anonymous because the element of anonymity is important, she said.

Church groups, Boy and Girl Scouts, and PTAs are now preparing to collect canned goods and toys.

Service clubs are being asked to contribute money.

Any citizen may contribute to Santa Claus Anonymous.

WHILE the Christmas Bureau needs all kinds of canned foods and toys in good repair, Mrs. Selley said gifts for teen-agers are especially needed.

She also stressed that no clothes are being accepted for this project.

Names of needy families are supplied by the Mt. Diablo Chapter of the Red Cross, the Salvation Army of Concord, Walnut Creek and Port Chicago, school nurses and the County Social Service Department.

The Social Service Department screens all names of needy families for eligibility.

Addresses of stations for collections of contributions will be announced in the near future.

Nejedly Quotes Federal Official In ANC Struggle

District Attorney John Nejedly this week quoted Edward F. Wilson, acting secretary of the Health, Education and Welfare, Washington, D.C., to show that the California Board of Social Welfare is not" . . . immune from judicial review."

Nejedly said that Attorney General Stanley Mosk's office has stated that the county is bound by the state board's decision, since it is merely an agent of the state, despite the fact that the Contra Costa Superior Court has overturned a state board ruling on the Eula Henderson case.

The board's ruling was that a lie detector test cannot be administered to a recipient of the Aid to Needy Children funds, to determine the father of a child receiving funds.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL is appealing the superior court reversal.

Nejedly quoted Acting Secretary Wilson as saying, ". . . The Federal Government has no role with respect to the investigation and decision as to eligibility and merits of the individual case.

"Our concern is, as we indicated earlier, whether the state law enables the state agency to meet the requirements of the federal law."

Nejedly also referred to the attorney general's comment that the county and the state may lose federal aid for child welfare if the Henderson case is won by the county against the case.

Nejedly said, "We will fight the Henderson case all the way to the top.

"It is a travesty on the administration of justice when state and federal agencies wield the club of economic sanction over local government in order to force them to render aid to those recipients who have abused the welfare program to the extent that today the taxpaying public is losing the respect for public assistance programs in general.

"When welfare recipients refuse to honestly name the fathers of their children so that society can look to those fathers for support, and welfare administration and the attorney general encourage such failure to cooperate, the public who reap the consequent immorality and irresponsibility have the absolute right to expect the courts to correct these abuses.

Open Burning Pemitted Now

The Orinda Fire Department announced this week that open burning will be permitted within the Orinda Fire District. However a permit must first be obtained.

Burning without a permit constitutes a misdemeaner. Permits must be applied for at least three days in advance. Burning hours are from sup-up to noon for all burning in incinerators as well as open burning.

Marcia, 12, Wins Stereo, B'dway's Birthday Prize

Twelve-year-old Marcia Canning of Lafayette, winner of the RCA stereophonic console, grand prize of the Broadway Shopping Center birthday party, is grateful to her friend, Joan.

Marcia drew a "colored" needle during the "Needle in the Haystack" event, and the envelope she drew as a result was the "big one"!

Marcia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Canning of 3404 Sweet Drive, Lafayette, and a seventh-grader at the Marlyrose School, Oakland.

"Joan" is Joan Mazetti, also 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mazetti, 2120 Carol Road, Walnut Creek. Joan is also a seventh-grader.

The all-important needle was drawn by Marcia at about 3 p.m. last Saturday.

But hundreds of other Broadway visitors also drew needles which brought them varied prizes. This is the second year that Broadway has featured a "Needle

Got those old tax woes?

If it will make you feel any better (or worse) here is a comparison of the high and low tax rates for each of our communities.

Although the basic county tax rate of $2.327 is shared by everybody, the total taxes that you pay will depend upon the number of special districts serving you.

For example, let's take a look at one code area — area 10002, which covers a portion of Walnut Creek outside the city limits. All residents of this "code area" are paying a total tax of $9.935 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Elementary school taxes, $2.269; high school, $2.175; fire district, $.875; sanitary district, $.684; mosquito district, $.023; cemetery district, $.045; East Bay Municipal Utility District, $.20; water district, $.647; junior college, $.413; flood control, $.199 and the county rate of $2.327.

Then there is the nickel that goes to the county for library service and a couple of very small items, like a penny to park handicapped children.

But when you add it all up, you get a total tax rate of $9.935 per $100 assessed valuation.

Incidentally, that 64 cents for "water district" is the result of the formation of a special district in San Ramon Valley to buy the holdings of California Water Service so that EBMUD service could be implemented.

NOW: HOW do the tax rates compare for the rest of the county: Following are the high and low tax rates for each community:

Alamo, $9.617, $8.116; Danville, $10.787, $8.17; Lafayette, $10.179, $9.2345; Orinda, $10.101, $7.837; Pleasant Hill, $12.153, $9.209; Moraga, $9.226, $7.869; Walnut Creek (inside city limits) $11.747, $9.942; (outside city limits), $10.196, $8.434.

It is interesting to note that the highest tax rate in the entire county is the $12 rate in Pleasant Hill. And the lowest tax rate in our area is that portion of Moraga with the $7.869 rate.

But if you don't mind the view, and you're really fed up, you can always move to Selby. The tax rate there is only $4.603.

Goyak Charges Baldwin Helped Up Home Costs

Republican Congressman John F. Baldwin was accused this week of "having helped increase the cost of new homes, driven thousands of families out of the home market, and contributed to growing unemployment in the construction industry."

The charge was leveled against the local Republican by Ivan Goyak, prominent El Sobrante building contractor and former Contra Costa County Supervisor.

"Low and middle-income families who find they can't afford the new homes they need, or who are hit by high loan costs on the homes they are buying, can put much of the blame for their predicament on their local Republican congressman," Goyak declared.

Citing the record of Baldwin's congressional voting activity in recent years, Goyak charged that "high interest rates, higher loan charges, higher price-tags on new homes, and the tight-money credit squeeze, have all resulted from policies that Mr. Baldwin has supported and voted for."

Women Hear Talk On Foreign Policy

Mrs. Elizabeth Abernethy was the guest of honor last Friday at an International Tea held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sheneman of Lafayette. Mrs. Abernethy spoke to a gathering of about 50 Orinda and Lafayette women about the Foreign Policy and the Strategy for Peace program of Senator Kennedy.

Mrs. Abernethy has traveled throughout the Orient as a representative of the World Health Organization and gave an account of her experience in foreign relations.

Douglas Page also gave a comprehensive talk on our foreign policy and the duties of a congressman pertaining to this subject. Assemblyman Jerome Waldie explained the issues involved in Propositions One and Fifteen.

The tea carried out the International theme by serving a dozen different varieties of cookies of foreign lands with Jamacian coffee and English tea. Mrs. Barbara Reid and Mrs. Rachel Koehler were co-chairman.

Parker Hits Dope Laws

King Parker, Jr., candidate for State Senator yesterday charged Governor Brown and Democrat legislators with encouraging a steady rise in juvenile criminal activity throughout California by their refusal to grab hold of the growing narcotics menace and eliminate it once and for all.

Parker, speaking to The American Association of University Women at Orinda, predicted that unless bold legislative measures are undertaken to control, reduce and eventually wipe out juvenile drug trade, there will be an alarming increase in other criminal activities in which addicts engage while under the drug influence.

Despite repeated warnings from law enforcement authorities, civic groups and public officials, Brown and his Democrat-controlled legislature choose to ignore the fact that California is a dope peddlers paradise with pitifully weak narcotics laws, Parker said.

Very Young GOP Group Will Go To Work Here

The enthusiastic Young Republican Student Organization of Walnut Creek will gather tomorrow morning for an all-out blitz campaign for Nixon, Baldwin, Krueger and Parker.

The group, which now boasts a membership of 55, is the newest republican organization to be formed in the Walnut Creek area. The student organization is composed of students from Las Lomas and Acalanes High Schools.

Director is Dan Van Voorhies of Walnut Creek. Tomorrow the group will pass out literature to residents of the Walnut Creek area and will assist in operating republican headquarters on Main Street.

Nutritionists agree it would cost you about 43 cents for products to duplicate the food elements in a quart of milk.

ASSEMBLYMAN Jerome R. Waldie moves into the final stretch of campaigning this weekend with meetings at various area residents. He will take his campaign to Concord today, moving in the afternoon to the Walnut Creek area.

He will be guest at a reception at 6 p.m. at the Dr. T. R. Flinn residence, 2431 Tice Valley Road. Sunday he will hold a meeting at 1 p.m. at the Dr. Clyde Brown home, 29 Mariposa Court, Danville, and will meet at 8 p.m. at the Melvin Brunkhorst residence, 2852 San Antonio Drive, Walnut Creek.

CONGRESSMAN John Baldwin noted this week that among his accomplishments since he has been a member of Congress are: He successfully spearheaded a fight to obtain Congressional approval for the Martinez VA Hospital. He successfully fought for the assignment of nuclear submarine projects to the Mare Island Naval Shipyard and fought for a $200 million appropriation to modernize the Military Air Transport Service's airlift capacity.

He successfully fought for the $5 million - plus Marsh - Kellogg Creek Soil Conservation and Flood Control project, the only one of its kind approved for California during 1959.

DEMOCRATIC Congressional leader Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House, expressed high praise this week for the efforts of Douglas Page, Democratic candidate for Congress, for devoting much of his own campaign activities "to stress to your people the importance of electing a Democratic President and vice president as well as yourself."

DR. JONAS E. Schreider of Walnut Creek was recently named as co-chairman of a Medical Doctors' Committee for the re-election of Assemblyman Jerome Waldie.

Among the doctors on the committee are Drs. J. C. Forsyth of Danville; Arthur Danzig and Dr. Schreider, Walnut Creek; Hervert Enos of Lafayette and Robert McEligot and David Powelson, Orinda.

Thomas E. Merry Simon Hardware Branch Manager

Bertram E. Simon, President of Simon Hardware Company, today announced the appointment of Thomas E. Merry as manager of Simon's 100,000 square foot Walnut Creek Store.

Merry joined Simon Hardware in 1950 and has held responsible posts in practically every department of the Main Store at 8th and Broadway, Oakland.

Emphasizing that it is the store's policy to promote from within, Simon commented, "we hire good men in the first place, and then we carefully train and develop them into outstanding merchandisers. Our Walnut Creek branch manager and the department heads and staff he brings with him will continue our 60-year-old policy of reliability and customer service, in addition to the lowest possible prices."

Simon noted that the majority of the initial staff of approximately 125 are new employees recruited from the Walnut Creek area. "We welcome the new members of the Simon team and hope they will have long and happy careers with us," he concluded.

The Oakland-born branch manager was an appliance salesman for four years before joining Simon's. He was with Admiral Halsey's Third Fleet in the South Pacific for the major part of his four years in the Navy during World War II.

THOMAS E. Merry has been named manager of the new Simon Hardware branch in Walnut Creek. He has been with the company since 1950.

Transit Battle Continues

It is important for citizens living within the Bay Area Rapid Transit District to spell out their objections to proposed transit routes now, a Lafayette resident told district and county officials Tuesday.

H. Kenneth Forsman, past president of the Lafayette Improvement Association and a representative of the Lafayette Oaks Association, was addressing a luncheon meeting of transit district directors and administrators, the county board of supervisors and Lafayette citizens.

Forsman said, "If we don't tell you our feelings now, what is now a plan will become the plan faster than we realize."

HIS STATEMENT was in answer to Kenneth Hoover, the district's chief engineer, who said earlier, "Our plans are not finalized—we are only after a basic principle and we should not get tied up in details now."

The meeting, held at Paul's in Martinez, was called by Chairman Mel Nielsen of the board of supervisors as an aftermath of a discussion the Lafayette group had with State Senator George Miller Jr. a week ago.

AT THE earlier meeting, Sen. Miller told the group there is no reason to rush into agreement on the transit routes, and he suggested the group meet with the county's three transit district directors to explain their position.

Lafayette civic groups have repeatedly opposed the district's plans to route the transit system along Olympic Boulevard between Lafayette and Walnut Creek.

Nielsen reported to the group that he had agreed last week with the county's mayors that all of the cities and the county would have to be in agreement over the routes in the county before the supervisors would accept the plan.

A SECOND plan for unanimity within the county was made by White, who asked the three transit directors representing the county to vote unanimously regarding the routes.

The design project chief recalled that when the district adopted the present proposal the three directors were not in accord.

Contra Costa directors on the five-county, 16-member transit board are H. L. (Jack) Cummings, Marvin Joseph and Harry Morrison Jr.

CUMMINGS TOLD the group Tuesday that he did not vote with Joseph and Morrison against the Olympic Boulevard route because of the additional cost which he said would have been required for the alternate freeway route.

"The $3 million in excess taxes would be something the board of supervisors would have a hard time defending," Cummings reported.

Three million dollars was also an issue to Supervisor W. G. (Bud) Buchanan of Pittsburg, who said he would vote against spending the additional funds for Lafayette because the money would help extend rapid transit to his district in Pittsburg.

Earlier Tuesday, Buchanan received unanimous support from supervisors for his motion calling for studies to extend the transit lines to Pittsburg and Antioch.

BUT CUMMINGS and other transit officials acknowledged that rapid transit for the Bay Area is, as Sen. Miller said a week ago, "quite some time away."

Cummings, a former supervisor, estimated that the system is five or six years away, and Hoover, the district's chief engineer, said the current proposals are only tentative plans.

Nielsen noted that Richmond and Concord want the system extended to their communities, Pleasant Hill has a station location problem and Walnut Creek is concerned over the elevation of the system.

Morrison declared, "We are willing to give the people what they desire and what they are willing to pay for."

Broadway Shopping Center, which started with 30 stores nine years ago, has close to twice that many now. And plans are for the location of several new stores in future years, according to Edith Apgar, MacDonald Products Company property manager.

She said Broadway has plans for the new stores and also new parking areas as the need arises.

The construction of double decker parking will be possible after culverting the Walnut Creek channel.

Mrs. Apgar added that Broadway merchants will keep up with the latest trends in marketing, styles, conveniences and innovations in future years.

"They have shown themselves outstanding in this respect in our first nine years," she said.

When Winter Comes, Can Floods Be Far Behind?

Director Will H. Perry of the County Disaster Office has announced the reactivation of the Flood Fight Council to coordinate county planning for floods this winter.

Reactivation was announced after the County Board of Supervisors reaffirmed the county policy on emergency sandbag operations. First priority will be given, according to the policy, for protection of highways, bridges and public buildings, and to the protection of large areas where possible.

Only after protection is secured for these places, will the rest of the county's resources be turned to help sandbag private property on an individual basis. The Disaster Office will coordinate all sandbag operations by county forces.

A STORM warning system, set up and established for several years, is in effect and ready to go in several areas of Pleasant Hill at the first sign of danger. The Pleasant Hill Junior Women's Club in coordination with the county disaster office and homeowner associations, helped to establish the system whereby key people are warned, who in turn pass the warning along to others.

Areas now included in the flood warning system are Fair Oaks, East Sherman Acres, West Sherman Acres, Garthwick and Vivian Drive. Gregory Gardens has its own warning system.

Mrs. Elizabeth Schrank, civil defense chairman for the Juniors stated, "The Flood Warning System will be in effect. We cannot guarantee advance warning to everyone, but we feel that if people are home, a large percentage of residents in areas known to be subject to flooding will receive warning well in advance of the danger."

She added that representatives of homeowner associations in areas that have experiences flooding, but are not now included in the warning system, may contact her at 2220 Sherman Drive for the inclusion.

Ron Nelson, deputy director, county disaster office, expressed concern that residents in areas that have been flooded in the past are not availing themselves of the services provided by the county to help prevent damage.

FREE Flood Fight pamphlets are available through the County Disaster Office, 2130 Arnold Industrial Highway. A film, "When Water Is the Enemy" graphically depicting simple but effective means of preventing severe and costly damage is also available for showing to interested organizations.

Nelson said the county disaster office will welcome all inquiries regarding flood protection, flood warning and emergency measures.

Bond Marketing Delays Purchase CWS Facilities

Legal technicalities which must be overcome before the Contra Costa County Water District's bonds can be put on the market, have delayed the district's acquisition of California Water Service facilities until February 1.

The $13,000,000 bonds must be sold before the district can take over. Officials from Stone and Youngburg, economic advisers on sale of the bonds, had originally set a December 5 deadline for putting the bonds on the market.

HOWEVER, they told the citizen's advisory committee on the CWS purchase that the date could not be met. They explained that it is difficult to market utility bonds near Christmas, therefore the district board, meeting Wednesday, pushed back the acquisition date.

Robert W. Johnson, new director of the Improvement District No. 1 and the assistant water district manager, John De Vito were granted authority by the board to approve contracts by subdividers to extend water mains from CWS facilities before the takeover.

The question of time before the rainy season prompted subdividers to ask for a speedier method of getting approval than the original contract with CWS which required board approval for any contracts over $2000

COMMUNICATION setup for the new improvement district will cost about $16,000 instead of the anticipated $11,000 due to a decision to increase the number of mobile units from seven to 10 to eliminate as many blind areas in the district as possible.

The board also voted to start work on an application for Central Valley Project electrical power for pumping water. Principal use for the power may come for pumping plants now owned by CWS. As a private firm, CWS was not eligible to buy the cheap electricity, but the water district, as a government agency is eligible.

Child's Death Investigated

Memorial services were held Tuesday at Hillcrest Congregational Church for eight-year-old Kristian Noon of 1668 Foothill Park Circle. Burial was in Oakland on Wednesday.

The child died Sunday about 25 hours after his parents had given him pills and tablets intended to relieve his illness.

THE CHILD'S body was taken to McFarlane-Bryant Chapel in Concord, where an autopsy was performed. Results of the autopsy were not immediately available.

William Noon, the child's father, found the boy apparently lifeless in bed shortly after 3 a.m. Sunday. A Concord physician, the Central Fire and the sheriff's office were notified.

Resuscitator efforts by a fire department crew were unsucessful and the doctor, arriving at the home about 3:30 a.m., pronounced the boy dead.

The doctor told sheriff's deputies that the boy's parents had contacted him the previous afternoon and told him they had given their son two aspirin, one sleeping pill and one tranquilizer pill between midnight and 2 a.m. Saturday to relieve his suffering and that the child had not awakened since then.

Three Accidents Mar Weekend; Death, Injuries

Three weekend accidents brought death and injuries to Pleasant Hill residents.

Brian Matthew O'Keefe, 18, was killed in a spectacular crash when the car he was driving skidded off Cowell Road at 1:35 a.m. Sunday morning near Babel Lane and crashed into trees in a Walnut Grove.

According to the California Highway Patrol, O'Keefe was killed instantly.

He had been to a drive-in movie earlier in the evening with several friends and was on his way home after taking some of them to their homes.

DRIVER of a car following O'Keefe, Jerry D. Sels of Pacheco, became so upset when he saw the O'Keefe car crash, he told officers that he lost control of his vehicle. It veered to the left and crashed into a telephone pole. Sel's brother, Charles, was in the O'Keefe car.

Youths riding in Sel's car crawled out and pulled the injured from the O'Keefe car. O'Keefe's passengers, Mark A. Henderson of Paso Nogales Road and Charles Sels were taken to Concord Community Hospital. Henderson was later transferred to Kaiser Hospital in Oakland where his condition was described as fair.

In another accident, Mrs. Addie L. Birdwell of 234 Boyd Road, was injured when the car she was driving east on Monument Boulevard struck the rear end of a vehicle driven by Frederic M. Adams of Concord. A complaint of excessive speed will be filed against Mrs. Birdwell.

The third accident occurred on Pleasant Hill Road in Lafayette, when the car driven by Mary R. Seuberth of Cumberland Drive, Pleasant Hill was struck in the rear by a car driven by Mrs. Nelda E. Widel of 524 Dawkins Road.

A complaint for excessive speed will be filed against Mrs. Widel who was taken to Kaiser Hospital. Mrs. Seuberth was treated for minor injuries and released. Also injured were Mrs. Seuberth's two daughters, Pamela 17 and Cheryl, 15. Both were reported in good condition.

Poisoned Food Found; Police Alert Parents

Death from poisoning struck three dogs and two chickens in the Oakvale Road area between the 8th and 18th of October.

Chief Police Leigh Brilliant has asked parents in the area to watch their children closely, fearful that a small child might pick up and swallow some of the poisoned tidbits. They were also warned to keep their pets close to home.

AN AUTOPSY performed on one of the animals confirmed suspicions that it had been poisoned. Two small bits of hamburger with a white substance on them was found in the yard of one of the victims. The substance proved to be strychnine.

Efforts to learn who is responsible for the animal's deaths are being continued by the Police Department. Brilliant warned that the offense is punishable by law to the extent of up to one year in jail, and/or a $500 fine.

Guilty of Burglary

Edward Horrigan of 65 Valla Court, Walnut Creek, was found guilty by a Superior Court jury of burglarizing a Walnut Creek men's store. Sentencing will be November 7.

William Dikan of St. Louis, who pleaded guilty to burglary in August, told purors that Horrigan had passed out from too much liquor just before the $1300 theft, August 5.

Dikan is now serving a 30-day sentence in the county jail.

International Dance Ends UN Week

Walnut Creek's celebration of United Nations Week winds up tomorrow night with an International dance at the Walnut Creek Elks Club at 9 p.m. It will be sponsored by the Mt. Diablo Council for the United Nations.

Music for dancing will be provided by the Stardusters Dance Band. The Las Lomas High School uniformed band will present a salute to the United Nations to open the evening's festivities.

Although it is not a costume dance, anyone who has a national costume is invited to wear it. Foreign students at Diablo Valley College and the University of California have been invited to attend and wear their native dress.

Local dancers, including Harland Harrison and Sally Flanigan, Sandra Winn and Judy Simon, will entertain with Spanish, Chinese and Hawaiian dances.

Cossack Chorus To Perform

One of the outstanding male dancing and singing groups of the world will appear in Walnut Creek November 6, at 3 p.m. at Las Lomas High School, under the auspices of the Walnut Creek Lions Club.

The General Platoff Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers have given more than 7000 concerts in 65 countries around the world and have been acclaimed by music lovers everywhere, said Farrell "Mickey" Reilly, chairman.

Proceeds of the concert will be used by the Lions club to aid the blind and in the club's other charitable activities, he added.

Fifth Graders Develop System For Predicting

Fifth graders at Indian Valley School, without indicating any preference, are predicting that the United States presidential nominee with the longer last name will be elected on November 8.

They back this up with research on past elections, which indicate that since 1996, only one presidential candidate with the shorter last name was a winner.

And they intimate that perhaps this exception is only because his opponent had been a loser on two previous elections. (Taft beat Bryan in 1908).

The record: McKinley over Bryan twice, Roosevelt over Parker, Taft over Bryan (the exception); Wilson over Taft, Wilson over Hughes, Harding over Cox, Coolidge over Davis.

Hoover over Smith, Roosevelt over Hoover, Landon, Wilkie and Dewey, Truman over Dewey, Eisenhower over Stevenson, twice.

Peter Corona, teaching vice principal, said that if this factor becomes accepted, perhaps all future candidates will have names ". . . resembling the old Fordham and Notre Dame football teams."

Court Hears Incorporation Arguments

Ruling as to whether Pleasant Hill will be allowed to attempt to incorporate as a city before the City of Concord annexes portions of the community's business district was expected to be made in Superior Court, Martinez, late yesterday after The Sun went to press.

The hearing of a writ of mandate asked by attorney Ben Hartinger, was continued from Friday, when day long testimony was heard by Superior Judge Martin E. Rothenberg.

City action on annexation was ordered stopped until a ruling could be made.

Testimony Friday revolved around the action by the board of supervisors in not formally filing the notice of intention to incorporate, as had been requested by the proponents; whether the names on the petition accompanying the notice were sufficient and whether the boundary description was adequate.

Attorney John Forde argued for the proponents, with Concord City Attorney Thomas McBride presenting the counter arguments.

Mary Smith, clerk of the Board of Supervisors, explained the difference between acknowledging receipt of a document and placing it on the official board file, exhibiting the different stamps used for each purpose.

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

The Witches' Brew . . .

Football games, fallen leaves & Halloween all go together . . . Saturday's game at the UC stadium was a perfect introduction to Fall in the bay area . . . the waning warmth of the sun streaming down on the students & spectators . . . the whole scene very nostalgic to me as I finally arrived w/three young ladies in tow to see the Oregon-Cal. game.

AFTER FINALLY finding a parking place 10 blocks away & doing a fast trot toward the stadium, my tired limbs keeping up w/the jeune filles youthful legs, I decided that more people would attend the games if it weren't such an obstacle course getting to & from.

UP IN THE HILLS behind the stadium the porches of some of the big old brown shingle homes creaking under the weight of an overload of spectators getting their game free . . . A few here & there sat on blankets under the black-green pines & there were still those who climbed on out on husky tree limbs for what we used to call the best box seats . . . or "Pauper's Hill" & "Pauper's Peril." is, the best I could view it from behind the goal post — when the CALLING FOR A COKE, I gave my attention to the game, that coed next to me wasn't flinging her blue & gold pom-pon in front of my face. At peak excitement (& there were a FEW moments despite the final score) paper cups spun through the air & my shining locks got a good shampoo of orange soda creme-rinsed w/coke.

THE little girls along w/me spent the entire time spending their weekly allowances & spooning out slowly, savoring every slurp, the Gremlin cups they consumed, one after the other. Gremlins are small containers of frozen orange juice which one eats carefully by scraping the paper cap across the frozen slowly-melting top.

THE HALF-TIME hijinx of the marching bands finally drew them up to attention & for fifteen minutes my young misses curtailed their craving for coke, gremlins & carnation bars. (I kept reminding myself that we were the same way — except of course, that we never had that much money to spend & so lingered long as possible over a hot dog.)

Saw Harold Heller w/his son Johnnie . . . Cub Scout fathers trying to keep track of the young boys in blue & gold who disappeared faster than quick silver — One group smartly leaving the stadium like a mountain-climbing team, all tied together by a white rope . . . like something off the cover of a Sat. EvePost.

An eerie one for the Med. profession

AT HALF-TIME we were content after the long hike THERE just to remain in the stands but it looked like the rest of the spectators got up to stroll the stadium which disturbed somewhat the colorful view of both the Marching Bands, one from Cal., strutting their stuff.

The Thomas Downey Marching Band paying a Musical Tribute to our American professions . . . The florists, gardeners, landscape field saluted w/the opening number "Everything's Coming Up Roses" . . . The medical profession humorously honored w/"I've Got You Under My Skin" . . . & the merchants w/the tuneful oldtimer "Pennie From Heaven" . . . The grand finale of the TDMB was a blast of trumpets & the beat for that Itsy-Bitsy Yellow Polka-Dot Bikini which was displayed in two parts in midfield. Big banner size . . . The pom-pon girls full of flounce & bounce & the male Bermudaed male cheerleaders putting the rooting section through the tricky card stunts. Ah, youth!

AS FOR THE FOOTBALL GAME, I only wish Cal would win just once! But the vivid spectacle on the green gridiron was even worth my groping wearily 10 blocks back to the car. It crossed my mind, however, that football players just didn't look that young or big in our day (How the years do play tricks!) Where once I witnessed 3 games a weekend, I'm lucky to see one a season now. On the way out & up, up, up those steps, stopped to chat a sec w/Pat Fairchild who was there w/her children . . . & as we started home over the back road behind the Claremont, we tooted at Vern Huddleson getting into his car, Kim Kersten waiting patiently at another one for his fellow cubs.

ORINDAN Ray Haywood in his Bay Area sports col., lists several reasons for the fall & decline of the college gridiron game. We have a few suggestions to bring back the crowds . . . (1) Run shuttle buses to aid the tired-legged long-distance parkers; (2) Invest in a 3-tiered or underground parking lot w/minimum hcg. of a quarter for the game (3) Rule out Gremlins & the Super surplus of screaming super soda-sellers . . . & last but not least (4) have the old alma mater or home team win just ONE game at the start of the season . . . to keep us in spirit!

HALLOWEEN NOTE: Radio Station KABL will switch from Bach & Berlin to bloodcurdling bits of Edgar Allan Poe, The Headlecs Horseman, etc., at midnight, the witching hour, on All Hallow's Eve . . .

If you're giving a supper party for the young fry, let me warn you — A menu a few years ago listed our young fry guests, the various courses of the meal. "Toasted Witches Eyebrows," "Poached poisonous toadstools," "Softboiled eyeballs" (the latter were tiny marshmallows in an orange fruit cup) but anyhow, it just didn't work! Half the food went to waste for the squeamish six-yr. olds & we know better now!

FUNNY, however, the Trick & Treaters go for the trick we play on them by having them squoosh their fingers around in a bowl of wet spaghetti or noodles which we cheerfully cackle are "The Witches Remains." Kids are blindfolded & giggle the whole tingling experience. June Merrell doesn't remember too clearly, but was I impressed — or scared to death rather, Way Back When we had a high school club initiation at her home (a hundred yrs. ago) & had to walk through a Spook room, barefooted at that through bowlfuls of soggy spaghetti. If you've ever tried to pick spilled spaghetti out of the sink, you've got the idea!

Pre-Halloween Bat Flusters Girl Workers

A pre-Halloween bat disrupted work at the Walnut Creek city hall Monday.

The little fellow (girl?) had somehow managed to get inside the building and was seen clinging at a high place on the wall. A flustered switchboard girl sounded the alarm.

"Not much work got done after that," said one of the girl employees.

Police officers offered to remove the bat that evening, but the girls wanted faster action.

They got a more immediate offer from the firemen, and Fire Marshal Bill Shisler and Assistant Chief Al Streuli appeared beore an enthusiastic crowd of office workers.

Exit bat.

Bats are new to the city hall. But termites are an old story. Several campaigns have been launched against them, with limited success.

Two additional members for the Moraga School District board of trustees will be elected at the regular school board election in April. Superintendent Charles Toll announced this week.

Toll explained that at the school board's last regular meeting, a resolution was passed increasing the size of the board from three to five members.

He said this is permitted by the State Education Board when a school district reaches the average daily attendance figure of 300 students. This figure was surpassed by the Moraga district during the 1959-60 school year.

The Moraga board is waiting for an appointment from the county superintendent of schools to fill the vacancy created by the recent resignation of Thomas Peek. Remaining members of the board are Donald Falconer.

October's End Brings Thoughts of Halloween

By YVONNE MAUZEY
DR 6-4083

The winds sing their song to me as snowy puffs of clouds like sterile cotton balls float overhead. Through a lacework of light and shadow the tree limbs scribble black marks on the floor and here we are at the closing of October when costumed figures will venture forth with paper bags in hand. The children dreaming of spooks, and hobgobblins and bags full of trick or treat loot.

The seventh and eighth grades will be starting the dancing classes Monday from 5 to 6 p.m., in the Moraga School Auditorium.

The classes will be conducted by the Cliffords of Orinda. They will consist of six consecutive lessons to be held each Monday. The price will be $7. Anybody interested call Madge Caldwell, DR 6-4394.

The seventh and eighth grades will have their Halloween dance today at the old school.

Parties for all other grades will be held the last hour of the school day on Monday. The children have four dances or parties a year. Halloween, Christmas, Valentine Day and Easter.

Charles Toll informs me we now have our music teacher, a Mrs. Estella Bowers of Concord. Mrs. Bowers will start the music classes in November on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Music during school and choral group and band after school.

Last Wednesday was visiting day for the teachers of Orinda to visit our school and next week Lafayette teachers will visit our school.

The survey for the parents night October 11 shows there were 278 parents present representing 188 families. There are 368 children now enrolled in Rheem School.

Superintendent Toll called a special meeting of the board Monday to sign the contracts with the Pagni Construction Company of Crockett for the Camino Pablo School. Our new school is under way ahead of the November 1 starting date set up last year.

Mrs. Florence Mead, our first grade morning teacer, was called last Wednesday morning to come to Inglewood, as her father had a stroke. She flew down. The school received a phone call from her Thursday saying her father had passed away. We are sorry for her loss and hope she will be back with us soon.

The Baptist congregation is now meeting in their new church along Moraga Way on the road to Lafayette. This will leave the old school open to bids from other churches for Sunday services.

The last board meeting increased our school board members from three to five. The third member of our present school board has not been appointed as yet.

The two new members will be elected in April at the annual board election held every two years. The members are elected for a three-year term and take office July 1.

Robert Trask and Superintendent Toll will attend the California Elementary Administrators fall conference in Santa Rosa, November 4 evening meeting and stay overnight for the day meeting of the fifth.

John Baitx is home from the hospital feeling fine and receiving guests. He is looking very good for a boy who was so sick such a short time ago.

The Moraga Junior Horsemen's Associations Drill Team, led by Shauneen Marron, took first place — trophy and $100 — for the Junior Mounted Groups, and the MJHA Color Guard took second place at the El Cerrito Fiesta Days Parade held October 8.

Those from Moraga on the MJHA Drill Team were Peggy Coffin, Sue Coffin, John Trelut, Charles Sanders, Kitty Lynch, and Don Franklin, now of Orinda.

The Grand National Live Stock Exposition, Horse Show and Rodeo held at the Cow Palace of San Francisco last week gave the MJHA sets of four, first place.

They received four silver cups, four ribbons and a perpetual trophy to be kept by the Moraga Horsemen's Association for one year or until they have won the award three times.

Those competing in this color guard were Mary Lee Bryton, Patty-Jo Cottle, Marcia Sawyer and Nancy Morison, who rode for Connie Sawyer.

Shauneen is doing a wonderful job training these horsemen, but it takes a lot of work, practice and drilling on the teams part to take trophies, ribbons or prizes in Grand National Competition and we are real proud of you all. Keep it up kids, you are doing a wonderful job.

Church Guild To Meet Tuesday

The regular monthly meeting of St. Perpetua's Guild will be held in the parish hall Tuesday immediately following the 8 p.m. mass. Mrs. John Zivic will preside.

The membersrip drive ends this month, according to Mrs. Richard Hauer, membership chairman. Prospective members who wish to be included in the new roster are urged to contact Mrs. Hauer, ATlantic 4-4919, before the November meeting.

Also on the agenda will be a report on plans for the parish "Holiday Dinner Danie" by Mrs. William Kruse, chairman. The affair is scheduled for Saturday, November 26, in the Straw Monkey Room at the Claremont Hotel.

THIS PHOTO shows the new church school building of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, which will be dedicated in special ceremonies Sunday. The church is located at Via Las Cruces and St. Stephen's Drive in Orinda.

Head for the Hills... Tax Bills Are Here!

Get out the aspirin bottle!

Phone the family psychiatrist and arrange for a long series of appointments for every member of the family . . . complete analysis for everyone.

Phone your financial adviser and give him an order to sell all your stocks and bonds.

Use your open-end account at the local bank up to the hilt, and arrange for a second mortgage on the homestead.

And most important of all, lock up all the poisons in the house and throw away the key. And do the same with the guns and knives.

Why all this sackcloth and ashes?

TAX BILLS ARE COMING OUT!

They were mailed Wednesday, and you may have already received yours.

If so, the best advice we can give you is not to open it. Just poke it aside with a stick and, if possible, cover it with something non-inflammable.

We notice that the county has thoughtfully gone into the field of amateur psychiatry in an attempt to lessen the blow.

Or maybe the powers-that-be were simply aghast at the thought of mass hysteria on the part of the populace.

At any rate, they have tried to pave the way for the black-bordered notice with an explanation of where all the pennies go.

YOU'LL NOTICE we said pennies, not dollars. It seems that you can't really find the villain in the tax bill. It's just a penny to this service area, and 29 cents to that one, and so on.

Of course, the joker in the deck is the fact that those are pennies per $100 of assessed valuation, and you know how high THAT is!

Anyway, the county boys are very careful to point out that only 27 cents out of every tax dollar goes to county operations. It is presumed that they think that those of us who get wild and reach for the shotgun will then bump off the special district personnel first, thus giving them (the county boys) time to get out of town at the first warning shot.

AS YOU CAN see by the length and complexity of that last sentence, tax bills also affect editorial writers.

The only trouble with the whole thing is, that there is nothing you can do about it. You can't move, because, we understand, they have taxes in other counties too.

And if you sell the house to avoid paying taxes, then you can't deduct the taxes from your income tax, so you go broke federally instead of locally.

Which is cheaper, drink or drugs?

Fall - and Football Fever !

And on the Safe Side...

Monday is trick-or-treat time, and all the little goblins, witches and ghosts will be out and prowling.

Whether they are on the take strictly for themselves, or they are working for such an organization as UNICEF, they will still be out and around the neighborhood, and this can bring dangers.

Kids in dark clothes and blackened faces are practically invisible to motorists until it's too late. If you make light colored costumes for them, and as an extra precaution apply some reflecting tape on the hats or broomsticks, they'll be a lot safer.

AND NATURALLY you'll make those costumes out of flameproof material, won't you.

It's not a bad idea to keep your costumes short, too, so the youngsters won't fall and the streamers won't catch on hedges or fences.

It's a good idea to use cosmetics and burnt cork to make up the children's faces . . . masks are dangerous. They're difficult to see through and there's always the danger of suffocation with very young children.

Certainly you're not going to let any child carry a candle or a torch, especially with all those costumes around. A flashlight inside a lantern or pumpkin will do as well, and it's a lot safer.

A GOOD THING to consider is having your child, if he is very young, make the rounds with children his own age. Older ones may thoughtlessly leave him straggling behind where he can get into trouble.

And if you can work it out, inconspicuous supervision of the very little ones by a mother or two can avoid later heartbreaks.

So now . . . dress up the youngsters and get ready for a happy halloween, and a safe one.

YOU Are Important!

You may not realize it, but your great moment at the polls is only a week and a half away!

Have you made up your mind yet as to how you will vote? Are fou familiar with the propositions, and have you met the candidates for local offices?

This is just a friendly reminder that time is getting short. But there are still a few things you can do.

You can attend The Sun's annual Candidates Night at Acalanes High School Wednesday at 8 p.m. and meet your local candidates in the flesh . . . and have them answer your questions, too!

And you can read The Sun for local election news . . . recommendations on the propositions and recommendations on the local candidates, too.

And best of all, you can read and study the issues and consider the positions and qualifications of the candidates so that you can be informed and vote intelligently on November 8.

You might not be aware of it, but a lot depends on how you vote. Will you be prepared?

The Staff Corner

Shed The Veneer!

By JEAN JERNIGAN

eeeEEEKKK! The witching hour for ghosts, spooks, goblins is nearly upon us!

Ghoulish masks stare at us from store counters, Halloween candy is piled high in sickening quantities leaving no doubt that Halloween is with us again.

Youngsters everywhere will have the time of their lives, we hope trick or treating for UNICEF, but whatever they do, it will be genuine fun.

HOW LONG has it been since YOU had genuine, spontaneous fun? Toss sophistication to the winds, leave the martini glasses on the shelf, don your comfortable duds and let's have a BALL!

No need to get down and bob for apples with your youngsters, they KNOW how to have fun. Tried taking a walk on our darkly quiet residential streets under the frosty starlight . . . to return to hot chocolate before a crackling fire?

With the exception of summertime informality, when did you last "spur of the moment" invite several neighbors in . . . to dance, to enjoy hi fi, or just to talk.

SOMEWHERE along the way, the rapid growth of our community, the enlargement of stores and variety of shops, the huge enrollment of our schools, have swallowed up the natural friendliness that was our heritage upon moving away from the city.

The purpose of the party has been submerged in the plans, glitter and trappings of the event. The hostess no longer needs to acquire an interesting pale look, she has it naturally from sheer exhaustion. Friendship, if it's real, is not based on the shine of the sterling or the thickness of the rug.

Progress is fine for communities, but let's jump off the merry-go-round of humanity and become people again. Next time your youngsters create conversational din among themselves, listen.

THE QUESTIONS they ask each other may be rather personal, but they don't seem to mind. They're interested in their friends, they really care. Take a tip, and cease looking for the motive behind that last personal question asked of you. Accept it as friendly interest.

So, this weekend, with the pumpkin on the vine and the black cat on the fence and the kids carving pumpkins, let their fun be contagious.

Laugh because you feel like laughing, not just to be polite . . . and should you be at my house and fall through an orange crate, remember, we're friends!

We Like It Here . . .

Candy's Dandy, But Look Where a Nickel Goes . . .

By MARIE MONAHAN

WHEN it comes to candy & a sweet tooth, I'm as bad as the kids.

But the Big Beg session coming up next Monday night is a cure-all for me & the moppets for MONTHS.

Where & how did it all start? This conning the community for tootsie-rolls & cookies by the super duper-size bags-full!

Back in our day, we mustered our courage, adjusted our sheets, then bravely rang a few doorbells & that was it!

BUT BY NOW the grab has reached gargantuan proportions!

It's enough to make you sick. And it usually does. The kids, I mean.

They guard their bags like vultures for weeks & we wallow through crumbs & candy wrappers . . . & dental bills forever after.

I am not against Halloween. What I mean is my own broom is broken-in ready for action. I've dusted off my tall black peaked hat & expect to have a little outing of my own. Maybe a candied apple & a spooky chat by candlelight over the cider bowl.

But when I think of the money spent to cache away the candy these past weeks, I turn pale. A psychosomatic tummyache, you might call it.

SAY, 5000 families putting out $2 minimum in our town alone. It makes me turn cold & clammy all over. Now multiply that by all the towns across country—or just in the Bay Area. That's enough to buy milk & medicine for the needy of the world.

LIKE THE UNICEF program. When the kiddies collect on Trick & Treat night, even five pennies donated go a long way.

Via UNICEF, the price of a stick of chewing gum represents the vaccine to protect a child against tuberculosis.

The price of a 4 cent stamp provides a daily glass of milk for a malnutrition victim for two weeks.

THE COST of a local phone call will protect a child against malaria for nearly a year & the dime you dole out for a daily paper means the penicillin to cure a child of yaws, a crippling & maiming skin disease.

(Here, the children's complexions mainly suffer from a surplus of ice cream cones & milk shakes!)

For the cost of a gallon of gas, a child can be successfully treated for trachoma, the blinding eye disease.

NOW HOW about that two bucks blown for candy!

When AFS-ers ask for a similar small donation of dimes & dollars, they, too, reap an investment from their collecting longer-lasting than a lollipop. By helping to foot the bill to send exchange students to live with families in foreign lands—a sound investment in future world peace.

So Bubble, Bubble, toil & trouble, it's time to start stirring up the witches' brew.

The goblins & ghosts who come calling here will get goose-pimples right down to their tippy toes. We blindfold them & then have them reach into a big bowl of cold wet noodles. Squooosh! The Wicked Witch's remains!

It's a hangover from our pumpkin days & a bit eerie, dearie, but the kiddies love its chilling effect.

Then they'll pick a magazine from a pile of used comics & Popular Mechanics . . . & what we save on jawbreakers & jelly beans, we'll contribute—to the UNICEF & AFS funds.

Happy haunting! Beat you there by broomstick!

Letters to The Editor

ANNEXATION

Dear Editor:

Contra Costa County and other parts of California are suffering from "annexationitis." This is an unpleasant disease accompanied by exhaustion of the revenue resources, high taxes, and general debility of the body politic.

Our annexation laws were adequate for the time when the incorporated city needed to add the fringe areas as they grew up, usually slowly, and became indistinguishable from the city itself. This kind of expansion of a political entity is highly desirable, since it contributes to orderly growth.

Annexation of inhabited territory requires consent of the inhabitants. Annexation of uninhabited territory requires only consent of the property owner or owners. These seem, on the surface, to be reasonable laws, but abuses have grown up against which the individual home owner or groups of home owners and the general populace have little if any protection.

A CITY on the march — and we have several in Contra Costa County — may annex unlimited uninhabited territory and downgrade the former county zoning from, say, minimum half acre to 6000 square feet. This works a hardship on the home owner who has paid a premium price for uncongested living and endured the inconvenience of commuting, etc., and now wakes up some morning to find a subdivision of high density population across the street. The general populace wastes no sympathy on the home owner in this instance and may even be sold on the idea, as are city councils, that more is good.

But the general populace is going to help pick up the check, too — in higher school taxes. The addition of families to the community without compensating business or industry greatly accelerates the process.

EVEN SO, this is annexation of uninhabited territory at its best. At its worst, such annexation lends itself to manipulation by arrangement between (1) the subdivider anxious to make more money from more homes on less land and (2) whoever can deliver him the annexation, even if it has to be by cherry-stem, up hill and down dale to a point far removed from the city proper. Incidentally, the taxpayers of a city which has expanded into the shape of "an octopus carrying a satchel" pay the higher costs of police and fire protection resulting from wide dispersal of population.

The residents both inside and outside the city limits are penalized by the chaos of jurisdictions resulting from annexations that cut across a multiplicity of school districts, fire and sanitary districts, etc.

Annexation of inhabited territory as practiced isn't much better. Cities generally follow a policy of requiring annexation of an outlying area which seeks sewer service, although the law allows the outlying area to contract for this service.

So, if the health department cracks down on an area for faulty septic tanks, the residents have the right to vote on annexation with a pistol at their head and a blank check to the city in their hand. Or, enterprising cities raid an outlying area — even an area closer to another city — by annexing it piecemeal.

IN THE PATH of cities barreling down on them, some communities in California have attempted incorporation even though their tax base cannot support municipal services. Any bedroom community is better off to remain unincorporated and continue to be subsidized by the county. But, in self defense and before it is too late, these communities must act.

Pleasant Hill's new scheme to incorporate some 40 square miles, in which are located both an oil refinery with high assessed valuation (the juciest revenue plum in the area) and part of Mt. Diablo, may provoke ridicule from some quarters, yet it is no more harebrained than many of the annexations taking place. It is only going the annexing cities one better.

WHAT HAPPENS in the way of zoning changes in Central Contra Costa County is of extreme importance. If high density population is encouraged, the already hard pressed schools will have children on triple session, housed in tents, and taught by the leftovers of the teaching profession who will work for low salaries. High taxes will also discourage the entry of new industry and encourage the departure of those already here.

The cure for "annexationitis" lies in the revision of state law. This won't be easy, because municipalities are strongly organized statewide and will resist change. But, change is very much in the interest of the general welfare, seemingly lost along the way.

Under The Sun

Sun Recommends Miller, And Slight Edge to Waldie

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

For whom are you going to vote for assembly — Jerome Waldie or George Krueger?

Who for state senator — George Miller Jr. or King Parker?

Today The Sun announces on the front page its recommendations in these two races. Let's first discuss the race for our representative in the lower house of the California legislature. The incumbent is Democrat Jerrie Waldie, young attorney from Antioch, who has served one term. The challenger is Republican George Krueger, insurance man, who has served on the Concord City Council for years and was its mayor.

He has tough job

Our assembly district covers everything in Contra Costa from the Richmond hills east. The assemblyman has a tough job because he must represent the republican areas of central Contra Costa (Danville to Walnut Creek to Orinda), as well as the democrat-labor towns of Antioch, Pittsburg, Martinez. The democrats have a majority in the district but not by so terribly much. Remember, Republican Don Doyle represented the district for years.

Waldie is a very personable, able assemblyman. He is bright and hard-working. The newsmen covering Sacramento named him the "outstanding freshman assemblyman." He is close to Governor Brown.

He went down the line with most measures favored by labor. And he backed Governor Brown's program, with a few exceptions. Waldie is definitely a liberal democrat. Some observers say he has many starry-eyed ideas.

Is it black and white?

This last paragraph may cinch your vote — for or against Waldie. If you are strong on social welfare measures, and spending programs by government, then there is no question — vote for Waldie.

If, however, you are on the conservative side, then Krueger is your man.

Krueger's record in Concord government is excellent. He is a good speaker and fast thinker; also able and hard working. His views are much more conservative than Waldie's. (Some people even accuse of Krueger of being 30 years behind time.)

He is critical of Waldie's votes in support of Brown on increased taxes. Krueger argues there was a surplus that the democrats had not counted on; that there was no reason to increase state taxes; but Brown demanded the surplus be used for construction purposes and new taxes be raised. The democrats, including Waldie, so voted.

And now the chips are down:

Who does The Sun recommend?

Both men are good men. The Sun recommends that you vote for the man who represents your own philosophy of government. We are going to recommend both candidates, but with a slight edge for Waldie.

True Waldie is an incumbent by one term and should be given extra consideration. It is not good to constantly change our representatives.

This is a very difficult decision for The Sun to make. In this republican stronghold, it would be simple to endorse Krueger — or all republicans.

Will Waldie change?

However, we are not influenced by party labels.

One important point in Waldie's favor: although he may have "starry-eyed ideals" and "liberal philosophy," he has good, solid common sense. We suspect that Waldie will lean more to the center of the road in the future. I think he will, as he spends more time in Sacramento.

I personally will vote for Jerrie Waldie because I like the guy so very much. And his wife is a charmer. It's obvious that my own personal selection is not being made objectively.

Unfortunately, I do not know George Krueger very well.

You see, this business of a newspaper recommending candidates is mighty tough. As I said last week, read our recommendations — and then vote the other way.

And in this corner . . .

Now let's look at the campaign for state senator, representing all of the county.

Contra Costa has a heavy democrat majority. Democrat George Miller Jr. has been our state senator for years. He is one of the three or four leading state senators; one of the top democrats in the state; he is a powerhouse.

Because of his seniority and power, he can do things for Contra Costa. George in many ways is independent. He usually goes along with the liberal democrat philosophy but he isn't a "yes" man to Governor Brown.

I don't think George is a "yes" man to anybody. He is so strongly entrenched he can tell anyone to go to - - - -.

His opponent is King Parker Jr., young, capable republican from Walnut Creek who has done an outstanding job in real estate. King ran for assemblyman some years ago, when Don Doyle defeated him, John Nejedly and others for the GOP nomination. The republicans of the county asked Parker to run against Miller, so he would not walk in unopposed. Fast-moving Parker has waged an active campaign.

Party philosophy again?

I think the same thing, in some ways, applies here as in the assembly race. If you strongly believe in republican philosophy, you should vote for Parker.

However, we cannot overlook Miller's record, prestige and status in the senate and the state. For the reasons stated above, The Sun recommends George Miller Jr.

Last week The Sun recommended the re-election of John Baldwin as our congressman.

Don't forget The Sun's Candidates' Night next Wednesday, 8 p.m., at Acalanes High School gym. These candidates will debate the issues. See you there.

Letters to The Editor

SOME SUGGESTED solutions are: Outlaw cherry-stem annexation entirely by requiring true contiguity rather than corridor connections. Eliminate downgrading of zoning by freezing the zoning of uninhabited territory when annexed. Require consent of the governing boards of school districts and other districts having jurisdiction in the area proposed for annexation, with full public hearings. (This latter will give representation to those who now have taxation without representation — the residents outside the city who bear the higher school taxes caused by city annexation policies.)

Letters to Assemblyman Jerome Waldie and Senator George Miller, Jr., should call attention to the abuses prevalent in annexations and the urgent need for reform.

MISS FONTAINE HARRINGTON

Diablo Adoption Auxiliary Will Meet Wednesday

The Diablo Adoption Auxiliary will hold its regular meeting Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. John Phillips, 1710 West Street, Concord. The auxiliary formed in 1952. Concerned with all facets of adoption, it is open to all women interested in furthering public knowledge and interest in this area.

The October meeting held at the home of Mrs. Jack Lynch, Pleasant Hill, welcomed Miss Muriel Nelson, Contra Costa County Adoption Unit supervisor, as guest speaker. Miss Nelson, advisor to the auxiliary, spoke on "Behind the Scenes at the Adoption Unit."

She described the training and work of the social workers and the structure of command within the unit. The group was told how decisions are made on individual adoptions and the various steps involved.

While the agency is concerned with service to every person who comes, "the most important consideration," Miss Nelson advised the group, "is always the welfare of the individual child." Following the talk, Miss Nelson answered many pertinent questions put to her by the members of the auxiliary.

Mrs. David McClintic, auxiliary president, conducted the short business meeting before Miss Nelson was introduced. The success of the group's booth at the Walnut Festival was discussed. Mrs. Jack Lynch, chairman of the Citizen's Advisor Committee on Adoption, gave her report of the last advisory meeting. This group, which is not a policy-making group, meets every other month and works as consultant and public relations group for the Contra Costa County Adoption Unit.

The members of the Citizen's Advisory Committee include a doctor, lawyer, minister, president and vice-president of the Diablo Adoption Auxiliary and other citizens vitally interested in adoption.

A special meeting will be held November 14 at the home of Mrs. Paul Epperson, 748 Hazelwood Drive, Walnut Creek, to hear an informal discussion by Dr. Franz Wasserman, psychiatrist and program chairman for the Contra Costa County Health Services. Dr. Wasserman will discuss problems facing adoptive parents and adopted children. Arrangements can be made to attend this lecture by contacting Mrs. Epperson.

The Diablo Adoption Auxiliary welcomed a host of guests at the October meeting. Those attending the monthly meeting for the first time included Mesdames Max Duprau, James Otterstein and John Jones, all of Walnut Creek; John Tulley, James McKenzie and John Pringle, Pleasant Hill; Earl Warne, Concord, and Joseph Spicer, Orinda.

The group welcomes all women interested in adoption and invites them to attend the November meeting. Many questions are asked regarding adoption and perhaps this will answer one for someone. Q. Who can apply to adopt a child? A. Couples who are residents of Contra Costa County; that is people now living here.

The Czajas Are a Talented Family

Shared Creative Interests Enrich This Family's Days

By JEAN JERNIGAN

Two talented people from opposite sides of the world were drawn to Chicago by their interests, met and were married 22 years ago on October 21.

This was the beginning of a happy family saga of shared creative interests and shared family fun. Now at home in Walnut Creek, Helen (Stevie) and Michael Czaja, with their two daughters, Viki, 17, and Toni, 14, have been an important part of this community for the past 11 years.

Stevie Czaja, daughter of Methodist missionaries, was born in Calcutta, India, and was educated there until her college days when she came to the United States to attend Ohio Wesleyan University where she majored in drama.

AFTER college she went to Chicago where she played dramatic roles for radio programs. At the same time, Michael Czaja, who was born in Adams, Massachusetts, had earned his Master's degree in Architecture at Rensselaer University and gone to work for an architectural firm in Chicago.

Vivacious Mrs. Czaja still recalls her wedding with a twinkle in her eye. "We had a genuine three-day Polish wedding celebration," she exclaimed. "We really had lots to celebrate, with my birthday falling the day before our wedding, and his the day after our wedding."

Proud of her husband and daughters, Mrs. Czaja much preferred to talk about them. "I'm just general secretary for the family," she said. "I try to help my husband with his work, doing typing, and be around when the girls need me."

HOWEVER, Mrs. Caja's background and future is just as colorful as that of her talented family.

In addition to acting in radio dramas, she taught modern dancing, and before becoming involved in motherhood had a book published by Henry Holt, "The Bountiful Cow."

Now that her daughters are older, Mrs. Czaja's thoughts have once more turned to writing. "I needed a stimulus to start creating again," she remarked, "and my husband thought a course in English or Literature might be the answer."

THE COURSE she so casually mentioned was a matter of earning her Masters Degree in English at the College of Holy Names. Her thesis, in keeping with her husband's work, was "The Artist As Portrayed By Henry James."

Michael Czaja, now a full professor of architecture at the University of California, Berkeley, has also conducted a successful private practice, taught at Bennington College in Vermont, and his paintings have been exhibited widely since 1941.

He has had 24 one-man shows at galleries including the San Francisco Museum of Art, California Palace of the Legion of Honor, Santa Barbara Museum, Seattle Art Museum, Denver Art Museum, Albany Institute of History and Art, University of Minnesota Gallery, and others.

During a sabbatical leave in 1957 he resided in Spain for several months and in 1958 he visited Japan. His recent work shows the influence and mood of these countries. His most recent paintings will be shown at the Phoenix Art Museum, Phoenix, Arizona, beginning Tuesday and continuing through the month of November.

NOT ONE to withdraw into his private world of art and architecture, no matter how full the schedule, Michael Czaja served his community as chairman of the Walnut Creek City Planning Commission in 1952. He is a past president and member of the board of directors of the Valley Art Center, and serves on the board of directors of the Diablo Pageant of Arts.

A close family, the Czaja's like to go camping, hiking and fishing together. "We like to go on picnics together," Mrs. Czaja commented, "and we enjoy visiting museums, having friends in for barbecues and reading together."

The Czaja's took their two daughters with them on their trip to Spain in 1957. "We were so glad we did," Mrs. Czaja recalled. "The questions and comments the girls made as we explored Spain and lived in Malaga added so much to the pleasure of our trip."

The girls, Viki, now a senior at Las Lomas, and Toni, a sophomore, share their parents' enthusiasm for their hoped for trip to Japan next summer.

DURING an intense tour and study of ancient shrines and monuments in Japan in 1958, during which time Czaja stayed in Kyoto with a priest in a Zen temple, he became interested in how the arts are integrated in architecture.

While the family is in Japan, he will continue his study of how tradition is carried through into modern art and architecture. "Viki will probably take one or two college courses while we are there," Mrs. Czaja said, "but we do not plan formal schooling for the girls during our year. We want them to be free to travel and to learn about the country they are in."

The girls, whose fragile appearance belies their athletic ability, are both outdoor girls, according to their mother. "They like all sports," she commented, "and are ardent horse lovers. They even built their own corral, with their father's help, and do all the work of caring for the horses."

VIKI AND Toni, for all their sportswomen's ability, are also adept with a needle and thread and make most of their own clothes. Both are artistic, and both write well.

In addition to caring for their horses, the girls also have a dog and four cats. "At one time," Mrs. Czaja recalled ruefully, "we had 17 cats and 17 bantams, all running around together. Finally we eliminated all but four cats."

The family is sad now, for one dearly loved cat, named "Mycat," black with white markings, is missing. "If anyone sees Mycat," Mrs. Czaja requested, "I hope they will get in touch with us."

The Czajas live at 1440 Maria Lane, Walnut Creek.

The results of one election are in, and Mrs. Robert Holmes of Oakland, Manzanita Branch member, has won the coveted title, "Queen of Children's Hospital of the East Bay." Mrs. Holmes amassed 66,992 votes in the summer-long contest which closed recently at the Queen's Gala held at the Hotel Claremont in Berkeley.

Amid the gay setting of a convention hall the Garden Room), where red, white and blue balloons and streamers decorated the pillars, excitement mounted as Harold T. Norman of Oakland, administrator of Children's Hospital, who served as master of ceremonies for the evening, announced the results of the voting every half hour.

Placing second with 50,502½ votes was Mrs. Robert Field of Orinda, a member of Lombardy Branch, while an associate member of Acorn Branch, Mrs. Melvin Carbone of Orinda, placed third with 33,038 votes.

The queen was crowned by the hospital's president, Norris Nash of Berkeley. Each of the winners was presented with a bouquet of long-stemmed red roses py Mrs. Francis A. Knapp, general chairman of the branches of the women's auxiliary.

Native Daughters Plan Halloween Family Night

Mrs. Constance Baer, social chairman for Las Amigas Parlor No. 311, Native Daughters of the Golden West of Walnut Creek, announced recently that plans have been completed for a family dinner and Hallowe'en Party for its members, to be held on Wednesday at the Women's Club on Lincoln Avenue.

A chicken and noodle dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. and all Parlor members and their families are invited. Mrs. Baer requests that all who plan to attend, kindly phone her for reservations, not later than Monday.

To give the affair a Hallowe'en flair, those attending are asked to wear costume, mask, or something other than conventional clothing to get into the spirit of the occasion. However, this is not compulsory.

Prizes will be awarded the best costumes and entertainment will be presented following the dinner. A preview of the many useful and novelty gift articles which will be on sale at the Parlor's annual Bazaar on November 9 will be displayed.

Assisting Mrs. Baer in the evening's plans are Mildred Higgins, Maureen Cahill, Ione Knabenshuh, Vera Kleckner, Jonnie Jean Stubblefield and Helen Carey.

President Helen Carey reported recently that the plans of Las Amigas Parlor of the Native Daughters and Walnut Creek Parlor of the Native Sons to present a California State Bear Flag to the city of Lafayette, so that both the National Colors and the Bear Flag of California would be flown from the flag pole in their new Plaza Park had been carried out.

The presentation was made to Jack Hageman on October 2 at the dedication ceremonies. This presentation was part of the two Parlors' Civic Participation program.

Professor Soss Opple Has Another Group of Picks

By SOSS OPPLE

Soss Opple came to life with a bang today as he feels in his weary bones that better things are ahead in the predicting department.

Nothing like starting strong so here is a pair of peerless pickn. USC to drop Stanford, 26-7, while Cal, whom losing doesn't seem to disturb very much, gets the works as Oregon State unloads for a 27-7 win. If Cal scores twice it will be considered a moral victory which somehow is of little consolation.

In the local preps pick Las Lomas to grind out a surprising 20-7 win over Miramonte, who have come close in league play while dropping a pair.

The Mats have been playing a good brand of ball but lack real fast hard running backs and chances are both elevens will do lots of passing.

The Knights will have a good weight advantage in the line and the two elevens are about even on the speed size.

Acalanes has been in and out and could get caught short if they are not ready tonight. The deep long looks in the crystal ball tabs the Dons for a 20-12 win as aerials score for the Bulldogs to keep them in striking distance the most of the way.

Piedmont, wonded and limping, still has too much for San Ramon as defense and sufficient offense remains to give them a 27-7 win with San Ramon's tally coming late in the game as reserves take over.

The Pleasant Hill Rams get back on their high horse and pulls one out of the fire to take an early lead and hang on for a 20-18 win.

The problem is replacing Tom Foster the hard running fullback, sidelined the past two weeks with a bad ankle. He won't be ready tonight but should be on hand for next week's big one with the Pittsburg Pirates.

Mt. Diablo plays Clayton Valley tonight and this is the big one for both, as to the winner goes the lead with both undefeated in league play to date.

Mt. Diablo wins here and goes on to cap the title for the second year in a row.

The score — Mt. Diablo 27, Clayton Valley, 7.

First Marked Salmon Are Recovered in Experiment

The first marked salmon released in a State Department of Fish and Game experiment early in 1959 were recovered this year, department spokesmen revealed this week.

Young king salmon were released in four lots of 250,000 fish each at Chico, Rio Vista and San Francisco Bay to determine the effect of downstream migration hazards.

TWO LOTS were released in the bay; one was trucked to Tiburon from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Coleman Hatchery, and another lot was trucked to Rio Vista, where the fish were transferred to a live-bait boat and boated to the release site.

These fish are two years old now, weighing six to eight pounds and are 20 to 26 inches long. Few of the fish are large enough (26 inches) for the commercial catch, but one commercially caught salmon released at Rio Vista was recovered.

In the ocean sport fishery, more were large enough (22 inches) to be landed. Six boated fish and one Rio Vista fish were recovered. In the Sacramento River two Rio Vista and two Chico kings have been caught.

FISH ARRIVING at Coleman Hatchery during the first two weeks of the spawning season included 14 boated fish, 11 from the Rio Vista release, nine from the Chico release and four fish trucked to Tiburon.

These results are preliminary, but show that fish survived all types of releases and should be available as three and four year olds in sufficient numbers to make a valid comparison as to what part of the migration to the sea is most hazardous.

Dairy foods supply over three-fourths of the nation's calcium requirements. A glass of milk supplies the same quantity of calcium as ten eggs, or seven oranges, or seven pounds of potatoes, or two pounds of carrots.

Vikings Return Home To Face San Jose Tomorrow

In their weekly contest Diablo Valley College's Vikings will host a strong Coast Conference squad in San Jose City College when they meet on the Pleasant Hill High gridiron tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

The Vikings will be trying to even up their conference won and loss record. Last week they were downed by Monterey Peninsula College, 24-6, while before that they had beaten Foothill, 14-9, and lost to Hartnell, 18-8.

SAN JOSE has a 2-1 league record, as they lost, 40-29, to Monterey in their opener before dumping Cabrillo, 26-6, and Menlo, 18-0. In two practice contests, SJCC was victorious over Sierra, 26-0 and San Mateo, 33-12.

Coach Fred Silva's Jaguar team uses a straight-T with occasional flankers. Top flight quarterback Bob Hidalgo is an expert aerialist as well as a fine signal-caller. Scouts have reported that he mixed his plays well, and completes over 50 per cent of his passes.

San Jose's Grady Hudson, left end, has given Hidalgo plenty of support by catching 12 passes in the two league contests he was in before twisting an ankle. He didn't play last week against Menlo, but he will be ready for DVC.

FULLBACK KEN Buran has been the outstanding figure in San Jose's ground attack. He has a seven yard per carry average in all three games.

Diablo Valley Coach Sam DeVito's team played a good game against the Lobos last week, but had their usual trouble of not being able to move the ball once they were inside the 20-yard line.

The game was a lot closer than the 24-6 score indicates, as the Lobos registered two of their touchdowns in the last five minutes of play.

More Adults Take Part in Hunters' Safety Courses

A marked upswing in the number of adults attending hunter safety training classes throughout California has been reported by the State Department of Fish and Game.

While many of the adults in attendance at these classes are parents of the youngsters, the agency said a goodly number are taking the classes themselves in the interest of improving their safety consciousness.

The agency said it is most pleased to hear of this development and is encouraging more of it.

Hunter safety classes are held for youngsters 16 years of age or under who have not previously been issued a hunting license.

State law requires a certificate of completion of a four-hour prescribed course before such a youngster can be licensed. The program has been in effect since 1954. Classes are taught by volunteer instructors in all walks of life.

Cat Show Is Nov. 12-12; Two Judges

Two east coast men will be the judges at the Mt. Diablo Cat Fancier's Third Championship Cat Show, to be held at the Walnut Creek National Guard Armory, November 12-13.

Richard Gebhardt of Orange, New Jersey, will judge the all-breed part of the show, and Robert E. Martin of West Seneca, New York, will handle the long hair and short hair specialty shows.

Although both men are well known in other sections of the country, including cat clubs of Canada and Hawaii, this is the first judging assignment for either in Northern California.

Film Festival Begins Next Week at DVC

"The Film: An International Art" is the theme for the 1960-61 Viking Film Festival at Diablo Valley College.

This year's series will begin with the widely acclaimed Italian film, "The Bicycle Thief," and co-feature "The Red Balloon," a heart-warming story from France.

The first program will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday and at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday in building 8 on the DVC campus.

PRESENTED by the Associated Students of Diablo Valley College, through the Viking Assembly Board, last year's Viking Film Festival was an outstanding success. It is hoped that this will become another annual event on the college's Concord campus.

The general public is invited to attend. Admission is $2 for the complete series. Tickets must be obtained in advance by either writing or calling Miss Marty McGrath, Associated Students, Diablo Valley College, MU 5-1230, extension 26.

"The Best Years of Our Lives" was the film chosen to represent the United States; it will conclude this international art film series on April 12, 1961. Other countries to be represented in the series are England, Germany and Sweden.

In the first six months of 1960, consumption of butter in America rose 4 per cent.

Foothill Division Moves into Third Big Grid Weekend

Knight-Mat Clash Tops Today's Area Grid Fare

The Foothill League goes into another round of play tonight and things are getting tight as but two more weeks of play will close the season.

The Acalanes Dons meet the league's newcomer when they travel to Martinez to meet the Alhambra Bulldogs under the lights starting at 8 o'clock.

Last week the Bulldogs lost a rough one when two of their fumbles were turned into touchdowns by alert Las Lomas linesmen and they dropped a 14-13 decision.

SMARTING from the defeat, the Bulldogs have been growling all week and word has it that the Bay City eleven has been working overtime all week as they figure that with a break or two of their own they could well upset the Dons' applecart.

The Dons came up with a good one last week when they capped a 27-0 win over a San Ramon club, but many check it off as weak opposition, as the Danville club at times looked as if they wanted to play anything except football.

Chris Rinne, the speed merchant, was back at halfback and looked to be fit as a fiddle and twice as ready as he ran and took passes after being sidelined for a week with a leg injury incurred two weeks ago in the Clayton Valley game.

THE DONS proved that they have the speed in the backfield that can match any in the circuit. All hands appear ready and eager and this is one that could furnish plenty of fireworks. Chances are the pigskin will be in the air a good part of the time.

Acalanes Coach Bob Stevens' big fear is that the Dons will be looking ahead to the big one next week with Piedmont and this could be disastrous as the Bulldog is in his own back yard and figures to go all out to defend it.

Las Lomas goes to the front again and this time meets Miramonte at the Orinda field in a 3:30 p.m. game.

THE LOMAS KNIGHTS have had difficulty getting much of an offense going all year long, but have capitalized on breaks in upsetting Mt. Diablo powerhouse and last Friday edged Alhambra in a thriller. They have been short in the statistics department but long on capitalizing on the breaks and making the most of them.

The Knights in the past have had a comparatively easy time with the Matadors, but it promises to be anything but easy this afternoon.

Mat Coach Bob Brooks and his chief aide, Don Phillips, have brought the Orinda team along in fine fashion after a slow start.

The biggest threat of the Knights appears to be the arm of quarterback Mike Breuleaux, who tosses the ball with great accuracy. The Mats, on the other hand, have a good thrower in Bill Hilger, who took over after Randy Thaman was sidelined early in the season.

THE MATS in two league games to date lost a close, 6-0, decision to Acalanes and last week scared Piedmont and but good before going down, 13-6.

This could be a close one all the way and Coach Brooks feels that he has an edge with an afternoon game at home. The Knights are fighting for a first division spot in the final standings while the Matadors, who have come so close, are determined to win this one.

Piedmont High plays at San Ramon and Coach Bob Muenter is really singing the blues although few can feel that he has any great concern as far as the San Ramon Wolves are concerned.

THE HIGHLANDER eleven did appear to be in low gear as they worked out with the junior varsity in a scrimmage Tuesday which Coach Muenter termed "far from satisfactory." The Clan had a lot of fence mending to do before tonight's game, as they lost their quarterback, Steve Hogan, in the Miramonte game and he is out for the season with a broken collarbone.

Bill Clayton, a 6-2, 175-pounder, is filling the breach after playing most of the season as a defensive halfback. Scouts will be anxiously watching to see how well he fills Hogan's shoes.

The backfield has other problems as John Pfeffer is scheduled to sit this one out with a bruised shoulder and Bobby Jones, the other half, is limping after stepping on a nail.

SAN RAMON, short on depth and experience, figures to go with a predominantly sophomore and junior group with senior quarterback Casey Evans at the helm.

The Pleasant Hill Rams had their troubles last week when they were stopped, 20-0, by the Clayton Valley Eagles, but hope to get back in the win column, although it won't be easy as they face the Antioch Panthers under the Paper City lights at 8 o'clock.

Last week Antioch rapped Pacifica, 13-0.

The Rams have had mainly weight problems in the backfield and have had to make up for it with speed and drive.

Dons' Power Hits Wolves In 27-0 Game

The Acalanes Dons posted a predicted win last Friday night as they ran and passed their way to a 27-0 victory that found the invaders on the short end except for the opening minutes.

San Ramon came out with a spread the first time they got their hands on the ball and Casey Evans hit on a pair of passes. The Dons changed defenses and that ended the San Ramon march.

ACALANES scored midway in the first quarter when quarterback Tom Strain hit Doug Inman with a pass good for a score from 34 yards out. Strain's placement kick was wide and it was 6-0.

The Acalanes eleven powered their way for 48 yards to score in nine plays the next time they got their hands on the ball. Stew Fox hit pay dirt from 13 yards and this time Strain kicked high and good to make it 13-0.

Acalanes made it 20-0 at the half as Strain passed to Chris Rinne for 30 yards to put the ball on San Ramon's 27 from where Fox skirted end to score and Strain once again split the uprights on the placement shot.

IN THE THIRD quarter Rinne got back in the swing act as he took a handoff over tackle and raced 40 yards to score, and this time a pass to Fox scored the 27th point.

Reserves took over midway in the third quarter and while both teams threatened, fumbles miscues and penalties stopped each drive short.

The Don's backfield, composed of Tom Strain, Stew Fox, Chris Rinne and Tony LaRosa, turned in a good performance, while end Doug Inman and tackles, Denny Toll and Dave Dornsife, had a good night offensively and defensively.

RARE INDEED is any high school football game where the winning team's total scoring output is registered by defensive linemen. But such was the case last Friday night when the Las Lomas Knights defeated the Alhambra Bulldogs, 14-13. End Darrell Dunbar (left) and tackle Ron Treat (right) each picked up a first quarter Alhambra fumble and scampered to paydirt to lead the Knights to victory. The two happy gridders are shown with Coach Duane Louis after the winning effort.

Peace Education Secretary Will Give Lecture

"World Community in Conflict" will be the title of the address by Ben Seaver, Peace Education secretary of the American Friends Service Committee, at the Hillcrest Congregational Church, 404 Gregory Lane, Pleasant Hill, November 9 at 8 p.m.

Seaver is nationally known as a worker toward peace and has just returned from the U.N. meetings in New York. He has much revealing information to share with everyone concerned with world affairs. The public is invited. Following the address will be a panel discussion and a period for questions and answers.

Alhambra Bobbles Give Knights 14-13 Victory

The Las Lomas Knights were real opportunists last Friday night as they pounced on two Alhambra fumbles, turned them into touchdowns and converted for a 14-13 win.

The Knight touchdowns both came in the opening quarter.

The game, played under the Las Lomas lights, found Alhambra intercepting a Knight pass and running it out to their own 20. In turn the Bulldogs fumbled and Knight tackle Ron Treat picked it up and went all out to score and it was 7-0 when Mike Breuleaux made good on the conversion kick.

The Bulldogs came back to drive to the Knights 17 only to bobble again. This time Knight end Darrell Dunbar did the damage as he went the necessary yards to score and once again Breuleaux made good on the conversion kick.

Alhambra had their turn in the second quarter when they hit for six points on a pass play from Bill Hitt to Dennis Watson. Van Boschetti's conversion kick was wide of the uprights.

Alhambra got seven points in the third quarter when Kenny Hall went over from one yard out to highlight a 54 yard drive. This time Boschetti made good in the conversion kick.

New methods of pasteurizing milk requires about 15 seconds, compared with the old technique which took a half hour.

Stubborn Mats Make Clan Work For 13-6 Win

The Piedmont Highlanders made plenty of yardage and lots of first downs last Friday night but had difficulty in winning over a stubborn Miramonte eleven that fought all the way.

The Mats scored first when quarterback Bill Hilger took it over on a one-yard sneak after a 58-yard drive.

JOHN PFEFFER, a top running back, put Piedmont back in contention when he hit for 24 yards on a drive from Piedmont's 20 and wound it up by scoring from the three.

The Mats missed on their conversion try and Piedmont obliged by doing the same, making it 6-6 at the half.

The Clan scored and decided the issue in the third quarter as Steven Hogan fired a 23-yard pass to Pfeffer, and then converted as Pat Hogan passed to end Tom Reich.

THE CLUBS battled it out the rest of the way without scoring and Piedmont breathed easier as the final gun sounded with them ahead, 13-7.

Piedmont had a one sided rushing edge with 231 yards to 24 while Miramonte held a slight air advantage as they gained 96 yards to Piedmonts 89.

Badminton Open To Adults

Badminton instruction and play is open to adults each Tuesday from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in the Del Valle High School gym.

All area residents are invited to take part in this sport. Players are requested to wear gym shoes and bring their own racquets and birds.

Rams Zeroed By CV Eagles In 1st Loss

The Clayton Valley Eagles took the opening kickoff at Pleasant Hill last Friday night and returned it to their own 40 before being stopped.

Six plays put the ball on the one and quarterback Gary Loveridge took it over on a sneak for the first half's only score as the count stood 6-0 at the midway point.

The Rams took to the air in the third quarter only to have it backfire when quarterback Nelson Shelton's toss was intercepted by Sid Smith who went 22 yards to score.

This time the conversion try was good and it was 13-0 until the final four seconds when Clayton Valley's guard Roger Shaw grabbed off an aerial on the Rams 11. Time out stopped the clock and gave Loveridge but one play which he made the most of as he hit end Wayne Hansen in the end zone.

Pleasant Hill was way ahead in rushing as they ground out 228 yards to Clayton Valley's 70. The Eagles edged the Rams in the air 75-50.

In first downs it was the Rams with nine, Clayton Valley with six.

'Wags' Gray Entered in Horse Show

Alice (Wags) Gray, 15, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Gray of Ten Acre Ranch, will participate in the American Horse Show Association medal class finals at the Cow Palace. The events run through Sunday.

She is entered in the stock saddle seat class. She won her two qualifying medals at Flintridge Country Club and Indio.

Pleasant Hill's Jayvees Keep on Top of League

Pleasant Hill junior varsity last week wrapped up Clayton Valley 14-7, to stay in the undefeated class although they do have a 6-6 tie with Pacifica. They play Antioch tonight, who are undefeated and the winner here could cop the Contra Costa Division title.

In Foothill junior varsity play last Thursday, Del Valle got back in the winning groove as they shut out San Ramon, 14-0.

Piedmont drew with Miramonte as they each wound up with a lucky or unlucky 13 points depending on the point of view.

The Acalanes Dons hit the jack pot last week and registered their first win as they romped over Alhambra, 39-0.

The frosh games found Del Valle winning as they nailed San Ramon, 6-0. Acalanes had a good day as they dropped Alhambra, 28-0, while Miramonte did also as they trimmed Piedmont, 19-0.

Sports & Games

It's interesting to note the number of outstanding football players this side of the tunnel this year. What a backfield a coach could have had if these kids were around ten years ago when the school district had only one high school. Imagine an offense of Strain (Acalanes) QB, Foster (Pleasant Hill) FB, Fox (Acalanes) and C. Rinne (Acalanes) HB's. On defense, Stephenson (Las Lomas), Toone (Clayton Valley) Cammeron (Del Valle), and J. Rinne (Acalanes).

Incidentally we've watched these boys come along over the years. They have been customers of ours and the one thing they have in common is attitude. They are willing to put out. Everyone of them, too, is a better than average student which knocks out the old theory that in order to be in athletics, you can't be a student.

'Father' of Diablo Izaak Waltons Is Dr. Paul Needham of Lafayette

The new Diablo Chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America points with pride to its "daddy", Dr. Paul Needham of Lafayette, member of the University of California Zoology Department.

Dr. Needham, a director of the new chapter, was responsible for "Operation Sage Hen", conducted at Sage Hen Creek near Truckee, California, by means of an underwater observation tank.

Needham, considered the foremost authority on trout in the country, and his companions were able to observe the spawning and other activities of trout and assorted fish.

VALUABLE data was taken. A similar experiment has also been undertaken in Europe.

Needham was a director of the national organization when he suggested the formation of the area chapter, which was chartered last April.

Its president, Paul Johanson, also of Lafayette, said the club's primary interests at present are the water pollution problems in the vicinity of Treasure Island and Benecia arsenal, the implications of the State Water Plan for fishing and conservation, also the possibility that the Federal government might make Point Reyes on the coast a Federal preserve.

Other chapter officers are Curtice Newcombe of Lafayette, vice president; William Needham of Alamo, secretary; Jack Lloyd of Lafayette, treasurer.

DIRECTORS are Art Evans of Martinez, Dr. Paul Sheffer of Orinda and Dr. Needham.

The chapter members are meeting on the first Thursday of the month at the Walnut Bowl. Meetings begin at 8 p.m.

Men interested in joining are welcome, said Johanson.

The chapter recently held a public meeting at Las Lomas High, where the pros and cons of Proposition No. 1, the state water bonds, were discussed in relation to recreational uses.

ONE CONCERN, said Johanson, is the inability under present plans for striped bass to get up and down the Sacramento River. These fish are the biggest game fish in the San Francisco bay, he said.

The Diablo Chapter is the only chapter in Contra Costa County, but there are others in San Francisco, Oakland and Santa Rosa.

The chapter members plan to work closely with the County Park and Recreation Council in its park development program.

Leader Courses Scheduled

A series of three training programs for leaders of Boy Scout troops and Explorer Posts will be held on Tuesday evenings November 1, 15, and 22 at 7:30 p.m. in room 105, Acalanes High School.

These are part of the standard training program available to all Scout Leaders and interested parents.

They are presented jointly by the Leadership Training Committees of East Meridian and West Meridian Districts.

"THE TROOP Committee" will be the subject next Tuesday with comments and suggestions on committee responsibilities, standards of a good program, where help and ideas can be obtained, successful organization, recruitment techniques.

Leonard Darwin of Danville is in charge of the meeting which is intended specifically for troop committee chairmen and their assistants.

"Advancement" the backbone of an effective troop program is the subject for November 15. Practical work on troop board or review and on encouraging advancement through effective program planning will be presented by Jack Steller of Lafayette and members of the West Meridian Advancement Committee.

AL MEADE of Walnut Creek will conduct the November 22 meeting on "The Patrol Method". This phase of Scouting, which Baden-Powell regarded as essential, will be presented from the standpoint of the Scoutmaster working with the patrol leaders of his troop.

Actual practical situations will be used and attendance by all Scoutmasters and assistants is recommended.

There's nothing that speaks of spring like the giant yellow blooms of the King Alfred Daffodil. You simply can't overdo it with these wonderful bulbs.

Crusade's Residential Drive Has $25,000 Goal; 1200 Women Helping

The residential drives launched in central county communities are working towards raising $24,995 or 6.8 per cent of the total United Crusade central goal of $154,111, according to William Q. Walden, central campaign chairman.

"While the emphasis on our drive is to give at the place of employment, we know from experience that many people do not have this opportunity," he said.

"In many instances retired or self-employed persons also want to make a contribution to the annual drive and this division's thorough door-to-door solicitation affords them this chance to participate," Walden added.

"LAST YEAR a total of $23,115 was raised by the division. This amount is a sizeable sum toward reaching this year's goal.

"A total of 1200 women are doing the door-to-door solicitations.

"When we want something done we turn to those with know-how. We know that when the women are given a job to do they get it done.

"In addition, the women who are soliciting are promoting community betterment in the greatest way possible," he added.

Girl Scout Program Helps Youngsters Prepare

(Editor's note: This is the first in a series of articles designed to familiarize central county residents with the area Girl Scout movement. The articles have been prepared by Mrs. William J. Marshall of Orinda, public relations chairman for the Diablo Valley Area Council of Girl Scouts.)

Getting to know you, love that song because it says so much better than we could what we hope to achieve in this series of articles . . . "getting to like you . . . hoping you like us, too!" is a thank-you to all our adult volunteers from the Girl Scouts and Brownies you serve.

Your guidance and leadership is appreciated and we know you will continue to believe that the promise and laws to which every Girl Scout subscribes is a wonderful basis for our future citizens to live happy, useful lives.

THESE ARE OUR birthday Years—for almost 50 years the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. have been helping girls prepare for the future by giving them the opportunities to develop the skills and personal qualities that will one day make them happy and successful adults.

In meal preparation everyone knows that for best results food should be well prepared and it is the same with people! For happy and capable future citizens, we must give to our youngsters NOW the ingriedients for a good and useful life.

Girl Scouts learn to be good homemakers. (Last year the most earned proficiency badges were Cook — 426, Homemaker — 305, Seamstress — 222, Hospitality — 207.)

Aside from the earned badges, however, Girl Scouts under the guidance of their leaders learn to think for themselves, to develop logical plans, to appreciate the contribution of others, to push back their own horizons and to translate their ideals into action by doing things. They learn to do things with and for other people; things that are fun, that are new and exciting and different from those they do in school.

TODAY'S LIVING brings us into contact with so many different people and situations that the need for broadened horizons increases with each month and year. Girl Scout leaders believe their organization is the possible fourth dimension—combined with home, church and school training—theirs is the privilege of holding open the door for the avid curiosity each youngster has toward the adult world about her.

The growth and expansion of the Diablo Valley Area Girl Scout Council has evolved since 1934 when the Walnut Creek PTA sponsored 30 girls through the existing Berkeley Council. By 1945 the Walnut Creek Council had 50 registered adult leaders and served 550 girls. In 1947 we served 1375 girls in our area and moved to Mt. Diablo Boulevard in Lafayette.

The council in 1949 rented land from the state near Sierra City, California, and using the profits from cookie and calendar sales, have developed the site. Through a special fund drive in 1954 a day camp was established for day hiking and troop camping. This property is now clear.

IN 1957 Casita Castana (little brown house) Lafayette, was purchased for use as the Girl Scout office. Once again community participation in cookie and calendar sales made the purchase possible and financed payments. By 1965 we will own this property, too!

This year finds our council with growing pains and still expanding, but so much more mature . . . we now have 4084 girls as registered Brownies and Girl Scouts—with 1567 adult volunteers serving in many capacities: as leaders and assistants directly working with the troops; district and neighborhood chairmen; board of directors or members of finance, public relations, camping, field, personnel or program service committees.

Also in 1960 we voted to become a delegate council, in order to conserve our volunteer strength and still be able to serve more girls. In order to continue to cope with the population growth of our area more adult leadership of both men and women will be necessary and constant training sessions will be available.

EMPLOYED and experienced personnel who conduct these training sessions give volunteers the tools with which to work. More leaders and assistants are necessary and many committees could use additional help, if you would like to share your interests or hobbies; working with girls—or if you prefer planning and working with other adult volunteers, please call Casita Castana, AT 4-4414.

The major portion of expenses of office, including salaries and troop services, are paid through participation in United Crusade funds. Cookie and calendar sales pay all capital expenses such as purchase of Casita Castana, building and improvements of camps, and gifts and volunteer work parties stretch our funds to provide excellent facilities for Girl Scouts.

Next week we will discuss our efforts in promoting international friendship.

Poppies to Grow In County Fields

Girls of the Central Contra Costa Camp Fire Council, Camp Fire Girls, planted California poppy seeds last Saturday, after purchasing them with money saved during the year.

The seeds were placed in public parks, along roadsides, in the vicinity of churches and schools, part of a state wide effort during the Camp Fire Golden Anniversary.

The poppies are expected to bloom after the first heavy rain of the year.

Official Seal Is Wanted by Therapy Center

The Unit Coordinating Council of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center will sponsor a contest to obtain an "Officiar Seal" for the Center.

The seal will be used on stationery and programs.

Anyone may enter the Contest.

The Mt. Diablo Therapy Center is a non-profit community supported rehabilitation center serving all ages, races and creeds.

The Center was incorporated in July of 1949 under the laws of the State of California as a non-profit community project and licensed by the State Department of Public Health, Bureau of Hospitals. It is the only completely community supported center in the United States, said Mrs. M. G. Kennedy of Orinda, president.

Center renders a complete service of rehabilitation from the time the patient is referred to the center until he is restored to maximal self-sufficiency and usefulness, she added.

For each patient an individual goal must be set physically, mentally, socially and vocationally.

Entry blanks may be obtained at the Center from Mrs. Kennedy or members of the Contest Committee—Mrs. Will Billings, Contra Costa Country Club or Mrs. Robert Love, Lafayette.

The winner of the contest will be announced November 30. All entries will be displayed at the Christmas Fair sponsored by the Council in the Walnut Bowl, Walnut Creek, December 1 through 4.

New ideas in menus and recipes will be given to nursing home and boarding home operators and their personnel at a diet institute sponsored by the Contra Costa County Heart Association and the County Social Service Department next Thursday evening, and the following Thursday, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Invitations have been extended to 60 nursing and boarding homes to send representatives involved with food preparation. Meetings will be held in the Red Cross Building, 1395 Civic Drive, Walnut Creek.

Mrs. J. C. Murphy of Brentwood, county chairman, will call the meeting to order at 10 a.m. The Oak Grove group with Mrs. Everett Hinkle of Concord, chairman, is responsible for the luncheon and program.

Final arrangements and assignments will be made for Contra Costa Farm Bureau Women's participation in the state convention of the Farm Bureau Federation at the Claremont Hotel, Berkeley, November 13 to 17.

Farm Bureau Women from the five counties of Region IX (Alameda, Amador, Contra Costa, Sacramento, and Solano Counties) will be hostesses for the event.

Members will be given last minute instructions for the Christmas Idea Day to be celebrated by all groups this year at the Contra Costa County Fair Grounds, Antioch, November 18, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m.

Exhibits of original holiday ideas will come from all parts of the county.

Miramonte Mirror

School Spirit Increases As Gridiron Stars Shine

By TOM FERGUSON and ANN LINCOLN

No one can say that the Miramonte varsity football team hasn't done a great job in its last two outings. The Highlanders from Piedmont are rated along with the Acalanes Dons as the big football powers in the league.

Last Friday night the Highlanders hosted the Matadors and barely escaped with a 13-6 victory. The Piedmont team surely knew that they'd been in a tough football game when it was all over, however. First string quarterback Steve Hogan is out for the season with a broken collarbone.

In the second quarter Bill Hilger sneaked across the one yard line for the first six points of the game. The Scots came back in the same period to tie the score at 6-6. This was the tally at the half.

During half-time, Coach Bob Brooks told the team that they were really hitting hard and playing a good game. Coach Brooks and Don Phillips were given three cheers as the team piled onto the bus after the game.

Today it's Las Lomas that will be seeing stars. Let's get those Knights.

St. Stephen's Church was the scene of a big dance after the Miramonte - Piedmont game last Friday. Every week they seem to be getting bigger and better.

Only a few of those having a wonderful time were Don White, Roz Starkman, Bob Lyman, Nancy Allen, Gail Haywood, Gary McCosker, Ted Brock, Karen Stafford, Katy Jones, Scott McFarland, Mary Moorehead, Rich Lyman; Bonnie Henning, Tom Gaffaney, Jack Putnam, Hester Harris, Linda Jones, Pete Yedidia, Sandy Coates, Danny deGrassi, Nancy Englehard and Andy deGrassi.

A Piston Pacer party was held at Ginny Allen's for many graduates of '60 and others. Bob Hecocks (natch), Carol Griffiths, Skip Nelson, Pat Gilmore, Jackie Villata, Dick Miller, Wendy Wilcox, Rollin Mack, Jerilyn Ganiats, Brad Olson, Katy McQuaid, Sharon Gillespie, Jim Smith, Sue Henry and good ole Squire Fridell were some having a great time. Bob Hecocks held the group's attention telling of Bob Pothier's exciting adventures in the Marines.

The poor guys were awakened the first day of service by the sound of a metal wastebasket ricocheting off their bunks and against the walls of the barracks. Brad Olson didn't seem to like the way callers are greeted at sorority houses. After standing in line awhile he finally got to ask for his date. A ringing voice echoed through the whole house "Room 204, your callers are here!"

Sharen Nielson had a big after-game party Friday night, too. Some that were there are Darrel Courtwright, Bill Kent, Jane White, Linnet Trefts, Steve Miller, Mike McQuaid, Kitty Mika, Roger McCosker, Joan Scholberg, Nancy Bregar, Randy Corsi, Mark Baker and Robert Boyle.

Saturday night Rick Merriam had a get-together for a few juniors and sophomores. Roxie Smith, Tom Gaffaney, Julie Winkworth, Ron Kay, Marc Jacobs, Sherry Odenthal and Dwight Thompson really enjoyed themselves, that is, according to the boys. Sherry and Marc had enough when Dwight and Ron had been doing nothing but watching football game for the hour and a half they'd been at the party. The girls finally went down to look at the pool. They couldn't stand the temptation so they dumped some chairs and stuff into the pool, screamed, and then ran. The boys sure left the T.V. fast.

The Bobolinks are pretty proud of their new sweatshirts. In big blue letters, Bobbies is written across the back.

Mike Rolley and Nancy Henry were pretty surprised by about 15 juniors who planned a birthday picnic for them Sunday afternoon. The weatherman messed up the plans a bit so everyone and the lunches were packed out to Rheem Bowl.

After about the first game Old Sol came out, so into the cars again and off to Tilden. When everyone had had his fill of fried chicken, potato chips, lemonade, and birthday cake all went for a ride on the merry-go-round. Among the most popular there were the zebra, cat and frog.

Even though it wouldn't go up and down, Carole Gilmore liked the giraffe best of all. Allison Hanford had quite a time with the chocolate cake she'd baked in a 450 degree oven for 15 minutes. When Chris Felchin went around a sharp curve the cake wound up right in Allison's face.

Women's Gift Is Church Guild November Theme

The Orinda Community Church Women's Guild activities for the month of November will be focused on "The Woman's Gift." This is a continuous giving throughout the year in the home by all Congregational women.

Half of the money collected goes to the Northern California Women's Conference and the other half goes to work in missionary projects throughout the world. Some of the projects sponsored by "The Woman's Gift" include helping to support younger churches, the migrant workers' program, summer camps for youth, scholarships, campus ministry and hospital aid.

GUILD women will have the opportunity to turn in their "Woman's Gift" boxes on Tuesday at the General Guild luncheon in Fellowship Hall. Mrs. John Traynor, philanthropy chairman, also asks each member to bring a can of food to be used to make up baskets for the needy of the county.

Hostesses for the luncheon will be members of Circle VI, Mrs. Walter Bishop, chairman.

The guest speaker will be Reverend Carl E. Munger, new campus minister of the First Congregational Church in Berkeley, with special responsibilities to the university headquarters, Plymouth House.

HE WILL speak on "Why Bother With Youth."

Reverend Munger was born in Watertown, Connecticut. He graduated from Williams College in Massachusetts with a B.A. in biology. In 1955 he graduated from Yale Divinity School with a Bachelor of Divinity degree. Before going to Divinity School he taught Biology, Latin, Spanish and English at a boy's preparatory school.

After graduating from Divinity School he was chaplain at the Loomis School near Hartford, Connecticut, where he coached varsity hockey, tennis and football. He also taught various courses and did counseling with boys and parents and was active in the school administration.

Semi-Finalists Selected by AFS For 1961 Year

Miramonte High School's field of 44 applicants for the 1961 American Field Service was narrowed down to six semi-finalists by a committee of Orindans who are not members of the AFS chapter last week.

The selection committee studied each of the applications and interviewed the applicants before selecting the six whose names now will be sent to New York, where the final choice is made for the program.

The six semi-finalists are Mike Eaton, Nancy Englehard, Linda Lindsay, Karen Olson, Richard Bowles and Beverly Graham.

Orinda will have an opportunity to help the AFS program during the Halloween weekend tomorrow and Sunday.

At that time students from Miramonte will call at all local homes to ask for donations to help AFS carry on its foreign exchange program. Persons desiring receipts for their donations will be given one by their solicitors.

William McGuire Has High Score

William Joseph McGuire of 24 Robert Road is among the nearly 100 students who made top scores on mathematics placement tests given to more than 2000 freshmen at Oregon State College this fall.

The placement tests are given during New Student Week to help faculty advisers and students know for which level class the individual student is best prepared.

Top scorers on the algebra and trigonometry advanced placement tests will, if they choose, be exempt from either one or two terms of freshman mathematics and will be assigned to advanced courses.

Fighting Among Children Is Normal, Say Experts

Editor's Note: The following article by John Corey is distributed by Phi Delta Kappa, professional fraternity in education.

Do your children quarrel, nag, fight, act as if they genuinely hate each other?

Do you worry that you've failed as a parent to instill qualities of brotherly love? That you haven't taught your youngsters how to get along with others—even in your own home?

Fret no more, if the fighting is all that prompts your misgivings.

This comforting advice comes from Dr. Floyd L. Ruch, professor or psychology at the University of Southern California and author of "Psychology and You," used as a textbook in leading teacher preparatory institutions.

"Fussin' and fightin' are part of growing up," explains Dr. Ruch, father of two children himself and grandfather of two more. "The behavior is to be expected. Grin and bear it."

FURTHER, says Ruch, parents may be delighted to learn that beneath their youngsters' seemingly hostile crusts lies genuine love for each other. Some may doubt this, but it's there, he assures us.

This love and loyalty are revealed when an outsider attempts to hurt or offend one child in a family. Clannish loyalty usually flashes to the surface and the attacker finds himself fending off the youngster's brothers and sisters too.

This same brotherly and sisterly love is tested when one child is being punished. The other kids in the family often plead for him and resist the parent's punishment.

But among themselves, it's perfectly normal for brothers and sisters to bicker continually.

HARASSED mamas and papas may say, "All right. We accept that this behavior is natural and part of growing up. But can't it be stopped for our sake?"

Dr. Ruch passes on these guiding principles, which may help:

1. Never compare one child unfavorably with another. Such comparisons really inflame bitterness.

2. Be fair. Distribute attention, love, toys, clothes, and money as equally as you can. Fussing often stems from jealousy, says Dr. Ruch, so don't fan the flame.

3. Teach recognition of others' rights. Do this diligently and consistently.

4. Try to understand the nature of your child's hostility and provide means for releasing his feelings and pentup energy harmlessly. Recognize righteous anger when your youngster has been unnecessarily frustrated.

5. Set examples of proper behavior in your own actions.

6. Teach children to curb natural selfishness.

WHATEVER course of action you take, keep it consistent. Wishy-washy parents upset children. Youngsters can live happily with stern parents or easy-going ones. But stay one way or the other, advises Dr. Ruch.

"Being tough one day and soft the next disturbs children emotionally. 'Be consistent' is the first commandment of the child psychologist."

Diablo Valley College Will Show Wilder's 'Skin of Our Teeth' Soon

Final casting for "The Skin of Our Teeth," the Diablo Valley College fall production, was made today by Drama Director Harvey Berman.

Performance dates for the production have been set at November 15 through 19.

Leading roles in the Thornton Wilder play will be taken by Sonya Van der Groen of Concord, as Sabina; Robert Bean of Concord, as Mr. Antrobus; Betty Mulnix of Concord, as Mrs. Antrobus; Joan Housden of Concord, as their daughter Gladys; Randy Morrison of Oakland, as the son, Henry, and Rod Garlinghouse of Lafayette, as the telegraph boy.

A REFLECTION of the condition of the human race, the production utilizes settings and costumes from the Victorian era, the twenties and contemporary times. It follows the affairs of the George Antrobus family through the Ice Age, the Biblical deluge and an almost catastrophic war.

The Viking Theater is in the process of moving its headquarters to Building 8 on the Diablo Valley campus. According to Berman, the new site is being made "into an intimate and flexible theater at present." Berman anticipates future use of the building in productions in the round, platform staged, and end staged.

"Skin of Our Teeth" is to be a combination of horseshoe and end staging, with the audience seated on three sides of the acting area.

An extensive rehearsal period for the show was begun last week. It will keep the cast and technical staff busy for about 12 hours a week, according to Berman.

Hellum, Davis, Dunlap Are AAUW Speakers

Mrs. Bertha D. Hellum, county librarian, John Davis, county probation officer and John Dunlap, foreman of the 1959 Grand Jury, will be section leaders at the Inter-Branch Workshop of the American Association of University Women, to be held at Diablo Valley College, November 5.

Mrs. Hellum, who developed the master plan of library service for Contra Costa County, will speak on, "The County Library: Expansion Plans and Problems."

Davis will discuss child welfare in the county. The section meeting will take the form of a panel moderated by Mrs. James Crothers of Pleasant Hill, with Miss Hazel Bearss, Edward Nathan and Davis participating.

DUNLAP will explain how the grand jury operates and the part it plays in County Government through its recommendations made to the Board of Supervisors.

The Inter-Branch Workshop, "AAUW Explores County Problems," presented by the Antioch, Concord, Martinez, Orinda, Pleasant Hill and Walnut Creek Branches, will begin with registration and coffee at 9 a.m. A general meeting is at 9:50, and section meetings at 10:30.

Each speaker will give a 10 minute talk at the general meeting, and will conduct a question and answer seminar in the section meeting.

At 12 noon all sections will come together for a luncheon presided over by Mrs. Wallace Bonner of the Walnut Creek Branch.

AT THE luncheon a resume will be given of each of the section meetings.

Dr. Elizabeth K. Bauer, AAUW state higher education chairman, and a Guggenheim Fellow in Economics at the University of California will speak.

The Workshop will be adjourned at 1 p.m.

Luncheon tickets are $1.75. Members and their guests in the Martinez area may make reservations by calling Mrs. Robert G. Griffin and mailing checks payable to the AAUW Inter-Branch Workshop to Mrs. Griffin, 701 Huntington Court, Martinez, by next Wednesday.

Weaving Hobbyists Have Fabric Samples Shown

Two Contra Costa women, Mrs. Alma Phillips of Walnut Creek and Mrs. Estelle Gore of Orinda, both who weave as a hobby, will have samples of their fabrics exhibited at the Contemporary Handweavers of California Exhibition of Textiles to be shown at the M. H. De Young Memorial Museum in San Francisco through December 4.

Both fabrics will be displayed in the juried section of the exhibition. The materials are for a man's sport coat and pillows, designed and woven by Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Gore, respectively.

MRS. PHILLIPS, who lives at 30 Holly Hill, Walnut Creek, became interested in weaving six years ago after seeing "Art in Action" at a women's fashion show at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley.

There she decided she liked weaving and went ahead with her hobby by taking an evening course at Acalanes High School. Later she studied color and design with Beatrice Bernardi at Sausalito.

Mrs. Phillips has had other pieces of her work exhibited at the Diablo Pageant of Arts in Walnut Creek in 1958 when she won two honorable mentions, and in 1959 when she was awarded a first prize award of $25. She has also exhibited at the Northern California Handweavers Conference in 1958, and again in 1959 when she won two ribbons.

Wool is the material with which Mrs. Phillips usually works, although she has used other materials. She most often works with a multi-warp which uses many colors and gives a striped effect.

ABOUT HER work Mrs. Phillips says that she has no special aim "other than to feel that each piece taken off the loom is worthwhile in color and design." She weaves only for her friends and family.

Other than her weaving Mrs. Phillips is active in PTA at Walnut Heights School. In 1958-59 she was a member of the Curriculum Study Committee for the Walnut Creek Public Schools. Mrs. Phillips, whose husband is the Chief Patent Engineer at the Radiation Lab in Livermore, has three young daughters.

A new loom which she acquired in 1953 started Mrs. Gore on her weaving hobby. In order to achieve greater skill in weaving she began a two weeks course with a weaving instructor and then took an advanced course at the Richmond Art Center.

Mrs. Gore has had other samples of her weaving exhibited at the Northern California Weavers Conference, at the Richmond Art Center this year and, again this year, at the Walnut Creek Art Festival where she won honorable mention.

MRS. GORE, who is a member of the Diablo Weavers, says that she hopes to "achieve excellence" in her weaving. She does not weave commercially but she enjoys weaving for her "Family of fifteen" which includes seven grandchildren and three married daughters.

Mrs. Gore, whose husband is a prize-winning photographer and a writer, lives at 44 La Vuelta, Orinda.

OFFICIAL PROOF

electric heat costs less than you think!

Data from Office of Business Economics

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

Wholesale Commodity Prices, Fuel, Power and Lighting Materials

Oil and coal costs have more than doubled in the past ten years. In actual tests the annual cost of heating a 1562 sq. ft. house with gas would be $95. The cost of electricity to heat the same insulated house is only $118 or less than $2 more per month than gas—assuming all heating units are in constant operation. Thermostatic zone control can more than erase this difference.

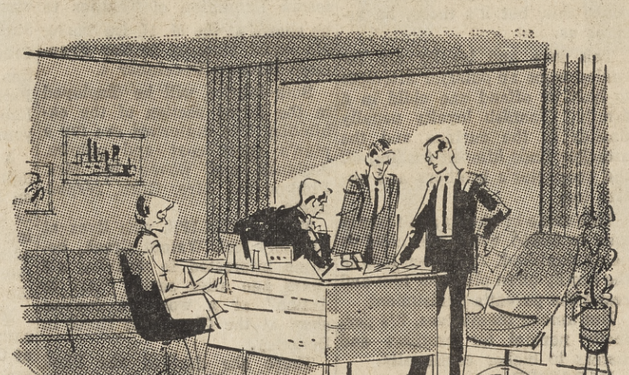
COST OF INITIAL ELECTRIC HEATING INSTALLATIONS ARE LOWER THAN FOR ANY OTHER TYPE OF HEATING. Economy of space alone (at $10 plus per square foot at present building costs) has amounted to as much as an additional rental unit for one apartment owner. This space would otherwise have been used for the flues, ducts, tanks and crawl space required for conventional heating systems.

REAL ANNUAL MAINTENANCE SAVINGS ARE CONFIRMED BY AN INDIANA ELEMENTARY SCHOOL. The simple, safe operation of the electric heating system requires much less time and attention while the clean, even electric heat substantially cuts cleaning costs. This school district has now built a second electrically heated school.

No other heating fuel gives the room-controlled, clean comfort of electricity. No other fuel today offers the total heating economy of electricity!

HOMES

Electric heat is 100% efficient! No heat escapes through flues or ducts and a simple thermostat controls the degree of heat you want in each room. Clean, draft-free electric heat is healthier, too.

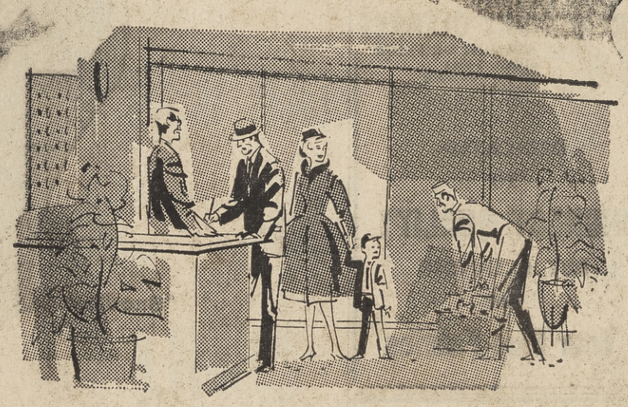


COMMERCIAL BUILDINGS

In stores, studios, business or professional offices thermostatically controlled electric heat permits maximum working efficiency. Clean electric heat also protects merchandise and furnishings.

SCHOOLS

Consider the savings when only one room or several need be heated as required for after-school meetings or vacation work! And electric heat is provided at minimum cost in added-on rooms or wings.



MOTELS, APARTMENTS

A master control panel in the central office can regulate the degree of heat in every rental unit! Savings in time, personnel and fuel are substantial. Cleaning costs are also less with clean electric heat.

FREE! An illustrated booklet that tells why electric heat costs less . . . and the many other advantages of this modern heating fuel. For your copy, send the coupon today!

Burton Will Have Ventilation Work

Lafayette School District trustees have authorized an experimental program for two Burton classrooms for the improvement of ventilation at a cost of $2500, including $500 architect's fee.

Changes to be made are the elimination of existing skylights, removing louvres and substitution of fluorescent lighting for the present incandescent lighting.

Falk and Booth estimated the cost per room at $1000.

Trustees also reviewed practices and procedures for hiring and evaluating certificated personnel at the Monday night meeting. Chairman Boardman Moore recommended that telephone conversations be used for supplementing a teacher's written references when it seems desirable.

MOORE asked District Superintendent W. B. Ellis whether any thought had been given to having each teacher rated by three principals. At present, the principal of each school evaluates his teachers.

Moore said evaluation by three principals could possibly cut down on any personal prejudice and personality conflicts coloring a report, and asked the administration to consider the plan.

Among the qualities on which teachers are rated are: Instructional skills, classroom supervision, cooperation, personal qualities, personal growth and personal relationships. The first two items make up 50 per cent of a teacher's total score.

TRUSTEE W. B. Scarborough expressed the board's satisfaction with the policy and procedure manual.

Ellis and business manager Sig Hansen reported on their meeting with representatives from the State Highway Division to discuss the purchase of 2.65 acres of land adjacent to Vallecito School.

Hansen asked for a firm figure to use in negotiations with the state. The board authorized an offer of $10,000 per acre for the property, subject to the approval of the State Allocation Board.

In other actions the board:

ACCEPTED a gift of $279.20 from the Vallecito Parent-Teacher Association to be used for maps, globes, encyclopedias and science slides for Vallecito School.

Authorized the renewal of an institutional membership in the California School Employees' Association.

New Speakers' Bureau Ready To Serve Area

Would your neigbhorhood study group, youth organization, or service club like to have a local expert talk to them on books, travel, or current events free?

The Acalanes Education Association, composed of members of the instructional staffs at the local high schools are prepared to offer the services of their newly formed Speakers' Bureau to groups who are interested.

The initial effort in the direction was the discussion of Abbey Van Buren's "Dear Teenager" by Vic Widmer, English teacher at Acalanes, before "The Debs", a teen-age girl's group sponsored by the Orinda Women's Club, at Glorietta School.

The presentation was followed by an informal question and answer period during which Widmer enlarged on points covered in his review.

Organizations interested in obtaining a speaker should call Don Foster, at Miramonte High School or Vic Widmer, Acalanes High School.

EBMUD Annual Report Has Finance, Expansion

The annual report of the East Bay Municipal Utility District emphasizes the strong financial position of the District and the rapid progress of its $283-million expansion program.

The report shows that total equity in the publicly-owned water utility was $135,263,878 on June 30, compared with $124,040,070 on June 30, last year.

Total bonded debt of the EBMUD water system June 30 was $54,790,000 as compared with $57,582,000 on June 30 last year.

Operating revenues for the year ended June 30 rose 4.36 per cent to $18,698,223.

Net income available for the retirement of bonds and capital improvements was $7,623,719.

EBMUD reported no increase in the tax rate of 20 cents per $100 of assessed valuation which has been in effect since 1956. Water rates were held to the figures established in 1953.

The report points out that the current $283 - million expansion program, aimed at meeting the East Bay's domestic and industrial water needs for the next 40 years, is not scheduled for completion until 1967.

However, as of June 30, 1960, EBMUD had completed or under construction 24 per cent of the projects authorized by the voters in the $252-million bond election of two years ago.

Contract value of these projects was $68,867,000.

During 1959-60, EBMUD reports, total water use reached a new high of 56-billion gallons. Average daily use of water rose to 153.2-million gallons, or 161 gallons a day for every man, woman and child in the East Bay.

EBMUD is studying some revolutionary new designs for tank-type reservoirs and is continuing its research on new landscaping techniques for use around structures which must be integrated into residential environments. During the year, construction began on several color-engineered roofs for the District's large, open-cut distribution reservoirs.

Other highlights of the 1959-60 fiscal year were the opening of EBMUD's new Walnut Creek business office, the completion of a Stanford Research Institute study on long-range management of EBMUD watershed lands, and the authorization for Bechtel Corporation to proceed with the design of Camanche Dam and Reservoir on the Mokelumne River.

Camanche will be a 140-billion-gallon storage facility, twice the size of Pardee.

The estimated cost is $40 million, including $10 million in Federally-financed flood control features.

Included in the report's annual letter from EBMUD's board president to customers was the fact that on June 7 voters rejected a proposal to add fluorine compounds to the water supply. The vote was: Yes — 118,143; No — 157,168.

Copies of EBMUD's 1959-60 annual report were mailed to EBMUD's 1250 employees, newspapers, trade journals, chambers of commerce, government officials and several thousand community leaders in the East Bay.

Nurserymen Recommend Some Shrubs for Fill

Drive through any new subdivision and you can spot the family with garden know-how. While houses on either side look starkly new, theirs has trees and shrubs that make it look established.

All of us could take a tip from this family; for there are countless times that we want something from shrubs and trees in a hurry. We lose a tree and need new shade; or we gain a neighbor whose backyard is always a clutter. Perhaps we want to tear out a vine, but shy from the resultant bareness if we do.

IF ANY OF these possibilities applies to you, or if you are starting from scratch, let's look at some of the fast growing shrubs which members of the California Association of Nurserymen recommend for a quick fill.

First, if you're in need of shade, try the Fruitless Mulberry. It is deciduous, but who wants shade in winter? Fast growing even in unfriendly conditions, it will grow by leaps and bounds with frequent water at the start.

Poplars are very fast to put on height. A row of them has always been easy to look at when in leaf. And in winter, the structure of their bare branches deserves a place in the history of scenic calendar art.

A TALL SHRUB or a small tree depending on how you view it—is the Victorian Box. It grows four to six feet a year with watering at the start and will bush out or branch out overhead depending on how you handle the shears.

The familier Brush Cherry forms a dense screen or hedge in a hurry, as does Privet when well watered. Nearer the ground, Rock Roses and Lantanas are only two of the many that any C.A.N. nurseryman can show you.

There are many fast-growing vines, but the Giant Burmese Honeysuckle will oustrip most of them once it gets started. And when you've seen its large glossy leaves and long tubes of bloom, you'll agree its a bargain at any speed.

Potted Orchids In Windows

Here is the gardener's checklist for this week:

If you want an exotic touch in the window this winter, try a potted orchid. When you select one, make sure it will bloom during the winter months. Your nurseryman will know.

Plant the large hybrid lilies as soon as you get them home from the nursery. They never really go dormant and cannot be stored like other bulbs.

Everything's Just Ducky At Diablo Valley College

Every morning behind the Diablo Valley College cafeteria chaotic noise comes over the edge of the driveway as a coveralled painter descends the slope to the banks of Ruth's pond.

In his hand he carries a supply of bread crumbs and assorted cereal grains. He performs a ritual of scattering them. Then all is quiet and he turns away to go about his daily tasks.

Where did the noise come from and how could the broadcasting of these carbohydrates quiet them? Elementary there are five hungry ducks on the pond who are aware of Mr. Pavlov's experiments and react to the "reward" offered them.

FURTHER investigation of the case in question discloses the origin of the aquatic fowl.

Dick Mahoric, cafeteria manager, whole driving to school one morning found two small white ducks on the highway and brought them to the only pond he knew existed in the proximity. This accounts for two. And the plot thickens.

Jack Carhart, 10-year D.V.C. veteran custodian, pleads guilty on the next count of duck planting.

Carhart's grandchildren were recipients of an incubator and two eggs, compliments of the County Health Office Nature Education program.

THE EGGS, in accordance to plan, hatched and grew to be ducklings, and eventually ducks.

Having reached the duck stage, the County Health Office again stepped in and explained their insect abatement control project. Ducks, i.e. aquatic fowl, attract many flies.

So in a grandfatherly manner, Mr. Carhart explained to his grandchildren that the ducks needed a large pond and more company. Then the children consented to their granddad's plan and the pond was graced by the presence of another pair of panicky pintails.

At this point hasty calculation leaves the presence of one duck unexplained. Once again we turn to Jack Carhart and his grandchildren for an accounting.

AS CARHART explains it. One of the neighborhood kids brought a handful of honking quacker to the grandchildren and, when we fed it bread crumbs, it stopped.

It was brown and not readily recognized as a duck, but in a few weeks we decided it was a wild mallard, crippled and in need of a home.

Remembering the health department, the children and I decided it too belonged "on a pond where companionship was readily tendered."

Election Costs To Top Record

The November 8 election will be the most costly yet in Contra Costa County, according to Walter T. Paasch, county clerk.

A record breaking 202,184 sample ballots were mailed last week to the county's registered voters. Paasch said it would be six or seven days before the ballots are distributed.

The county has budgeted $238,903 for the vote, as compared to $228,000 for the June primaries.

A cost breakdown shows $5054.60 spent to mail the ballots, $75 to $111 to election officials in each of 1,005 polling places and a fee of $10 for each polling station rented.

TRAVEL AGENTS TRAVEL, TOO!

Perhaps not leisurely like we would like our clients to do, but we do get around! Worden Travel "staff," in Walnut Creek and Orinda, has accomplished the following within the last season:

A ten day trip to Mexico (a different stop each night is work—not play). We did manage a 9 foot sail fish in Mazatlan.

Three of us have been to Europe on the new jets. The Caribbean was circled as was South America and the Hawaiian Islands will have been revisited by 4 staff members before the finish of the year!

Domestically we are active too. We have been to Miami, New Orleans, Los Angeles, Las Vegas and our "gas card" is frayed from use on California Resort inspection trips.

Even after all this—do you know what our best source of information is? You our clients! You see we get to know one another fairly well by the time a trip is consummated and we spend many an hour chatting after trips getting valuable information to share with others.

But what we have found out is that most don't have quality construction. We have! And you have the advantage of FHA financing.

SF Dean Will Preach at Annual Reformation Rite

The Very Reverend C. Julian Bartlett, dean of Grace Cathedral, San Francisco, will be the guest preacher at the Central County Council of Churches annual Reformation service, Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

It will be held at the Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church, Oakland Boulevard, Walnut Creek.

"During the past two decades the observance of Reformation services by the Council of Churches has reached a high crecendo, and today the emphasis is upon what we are for rather than what we are against —less on our divisions and more on our unity in Christ," said Rev. Dr. Philip J. Daunton, executive director of the local Council.

ALSO participating will be the Rev. William S. Stoddard, minister of the Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church; Dr. D. E. Wilcox, president of the Council of Churches; the Rev. Irvin Askine, former executive director of the local Council; the Rev. Melvin Pekrul, pastor of Valley Baptist Church, Walnut Creek, and Dr. Daunton.

The Council is composed of 35 churches within the Central Valley area. Daunton invited all members of the community to join in this united service.

One of the "most vital" ministries of the Council of Churches — chaplain at County Juvenile Hall — will be increased, said Rev. Daunton.

The Council's Protestant chaplain is Norman Stuart, a second year seminarian at the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, who has been working half time at the Juvenile Hall.

DURING the past few months, an intensive solicitation of service clubs in the area has been made to elicit support for this ministry. As a result, Mr. Stuart will be working a 30 hour week at Juvenile Hall.

In addition to being available for spiritual counseling with the young people and the staff, he will also supervise the Sunday School program.

The Chaplaincy Committee of the Local Council is headed by the Rev. David Romeis, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Walnut Creek.

ITS members include Mrs. Robert S. Love, the Rev. Roland Smith, Rev. William Pothier, and Rev. C. W. Hart, representing the Antioch Council of Churches; Dr. Morris Roach, representing the Richmond Council of Churches.

The Council of Churches' Chaplaincy Committee also has on its staff Mrs. Edith Wittemore, superintendent of the Sunday School at Juvenile Hall, and the Rev. Martin Graebner, who is the Council's chaplain at the County Hospital in Martinez.

Hertzberg And Hartman Have Papers

Technical papers will be presented by three East Bay Municipal Utility District delegates to the 41st annual conference of the California American Water Works Association held this week in Long Beach.

Senior Electrical Engineer Lee B. Hertzberg of 25 Stanley Court, Walnut Creek will speak on "Electrical Ground Requirements vs. Water Utility Practices."

Land Maintenance Superintendent William T. Hartman of 2172 Ward Drive, Walnut Creek will present a paper on "Landscaping of Utility Structures in Residential Areas."

Staff Assistant H. Buford Fisher of 1417 Mount Street, Alameda will discuss "Problems of System Expansion by Annexation of Existing Systems" — with particular reference to EBMUD's annexation in May, 1959 of the San Ramon Valley area.

Forecast: SHOWERS TODAY AND EVERY DAY!

Oakland's Leo Cecaci works in front of an open-hearth steel furnace. Eight hours a day at temperatures in the 100's. How to beat heat like that? Leo does it with EBMUD water — plenty of cold showers.

Leo uses a lot of water, but he's not likely to run out. In the first place, EBMUD already brings nearly 160-million gallons into the East Bay every day. In the second place, the $252-million expansion program you okayed at the polls in 1958 is moving swiftly ahead.

The result? Plenty of showers for everyone. And enough water to stay well ahead of population and industrial growth.

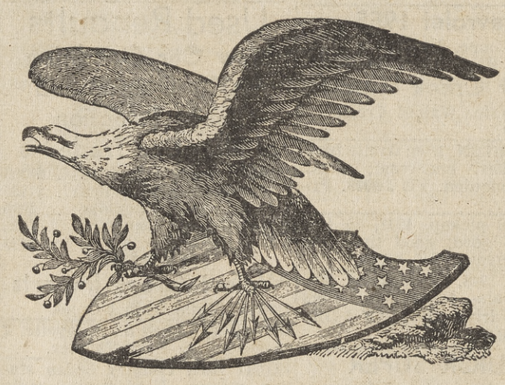
John Baldwin a good Congressman!

a fine record and 6 years of seniority



- Baldwin is the only Congressman of the 30 California Members of the U. S. House of Representatives who has answered every roll call since being elected to Congress six years ago. Fewer than 10 of the other 437 Members of the House have a similar record.
- Baldwin's increasing seniority makes him the ranking Californian on the key House Public Works Committee.
- Because of this seniority, Baldwin was appointed by the Democratic Speaker of the House of Representatives to the Conference Committee which drafted the 1960 $1,400,000,000 Omnibus Rivers and Harbors and Flood Control bill into final form. Directly through his efforts, he obtained authorization for the $24,000,000 Walnut Creek Flood Control bill. In conference he successfully fought for amendments to the measure to avoid a Presidential veto of the Omnibus bill.
- Baldwin successfully spearheaded a fight — in face of powerful opposition from Alameda County — to obtain Congressional approval for the Martinez Veterans Administration Hospital.
- Baldwin successfully fought for the assignment of seven nuclear submarine projects to Mare Island Naval Shipyard. The projects included the first West Coast nuclear submarine project, the first American nuclear sub capable of launching guided missiles, and two of the nation's first nuclear Polaris ballistic missile submarines.
- Baldwin successfully fought for the $5,942,200 Marsh-Kellogg Creek Soil Conservation and Flood Control Project, the only one of its kind approved for California during 1959. The project will prevent serious flooding in eastern Contra Costa County.
- Baldwin obtained appropriations totalling $29,953,000 for the construction of Monticello Dam and the Solano Project. The $12,700,000 Solano Irrigation District loan was the first of its type in the United States.
- Baldwin has always fought for legislation to protect the voting rights of every citizen regardless of race, color or creed. He assisted in obtaining passage of the first two civil rights laws passed by Congress in 82 years.
- Baldwin has consistently fought for and obtained appropriations for Solano and Contra Costa County schools under Public Laws 815 and 874.
- Baldwin successfully obtained release by the Army of inactivated Camp Stoneman so that the property could be restored to the tax rolls and placed in constructive use.
- As a result of these efforts, Baldwin has been characterized by fellow Congressmen as the "hardest working Member of Congress."
